

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE recent discovery of a work of Aristotle has interested and delighted the whole learned world; but one may venture to say that if, instead, a book had been found written in the best period of the Latin language for the amusement or instruction of youth, by some Roman De Foe, or Goldsmith, or Lamb, or Burnett, there would be ten times the reason for rejoicing. Unhappily there is no likelihood that we shall ever congratulate ourselves on such a "find," for probably no such work ever existed. What a misfortune that it did not occur to Cicero to divert himself in some leisure hour by writing a story for Roman youth! Millions of boys and girls in these later ages would have had good reason to bless his name. Cæsar could have done it; but to him, too, the gods denied such an inspiration, and we must suffer for it. Seeing that he had composed a treatise on Latin Grammar, one almost wonders that a mind so original and fertile should not have conceived the idea of adapting his Gallic War, or some part of it, to the powers and comprehension of youth. What measureless gratitude would he not have won from unborn generations of schoolmasters, who have now to struggle desperately and often unavailingly to make clear to their pupils the meaning of his intricate periods, and untwist the strands of his knotty syntax!

Cæsar is a difficult author. Some parts of his Gallic War are as hard, or nearly as hard, as any prose Latin that has come down to us. Yet it has somehow strangely enough become the fashion to read that work first in a Latin course. My own conviction is that for young learners a year's reading in easier Latin is not too much before taking up the less difficult books of the Gallic War. Even then the transition to Cæsar comes with something of a shock; for the learner is soon and often brought face to face with sentences that seem to him of most bewildering intricacy, however they may, as commentators sometimes remark, beautifully illustrate most important principles of Latin order and construction. There is a sentence in the second book, by no means the most difficult one to be found, that extends through eighteen lines,—that is, something more than half a page,—containing twenty-one distinct ideas, and having the verb separated from its subject by ninety-four words.

I know no more disheartening task than that of undertaking to carry a class unprepared in age and knowledge of the language through Cæsar's Gallic War. Yet it is precisely this disheartening task that thousands of teachers are set to do, or set themselves to do, every year. The results are often dismal enough. Teachers are blamed, they blame themselves, they blame their pupils. Pupils may sometimes be stupid, teachers may lack knowledge of the language and the subject, but the fault may also lie wholly with the author or with the Latin language itself; if with the latter, there is no help. Latin, it must be confessed, is an exceedingly difficult language to learn. All the more reason then why, in attacking it, every unnecessary obstacle should be removed. We should make our approaches with caution and skill; we should take it, if possible, aperto latere. We should not begin with a difficult work; or if, in the dearth of Latin suited to the juvenile mind, this is deemed unavoidable, common sense suggests the query, *why not remove provisionally*¹ from the text those more intricate parts that discourage the learner and bar the way of progress?

Cæsar knew how to write his own language well; but he wrote for men, he wrote with compression and in haste, and there are passages in his works that are tough reading for a good Latin scholar. It is the fashion to praise Cæsar's lucidity; but brevity and haste are not conducive to lucidity.

“Ther nys no werkman, what so ever he be,
That may bothe werke wel, and hastily.
This wol be doon at leyser partfly.”

For my part I confess that I sometimes find him obscure. Moreover, when I am in doubt as to his meaning and appeal to the commentators, I find that they generally disagree and sometimes quarrel about the sense. Therefore to put young learners to reading Cæsar as his text stands, bristling with difficulties, before they have acquired anything more than a meagre vocabulary and gained a modicum of insight by some practice in reading easier Latin, is to set them at a task harder than that which Pharaoh set the Israelites.

I am of the opinion that, even when a fair working vocabulary has been acquired through some previous reading, there is no book of the Gallic War that does not require a certain degree of simplification to bring it to the level of the powers of young boys and girls. It is this conviction born of long observation of the vexation of spirit, discouragement, and waste of time by pupils in wrestling with difficulties that inevitably floor them, that has prompted me to put my hand to this work, which, slight as it may seem, has cost me the leisure of many months. But I shall feel repaid tenfold, if, through this little book, boys and girls are enabled to read Cæsar with less waste of time, more easily, with fresher interest, and added sense of power; if, in other words, it proves in reality what it is in name, a Gate to Cæsar.

A few words will be sufficient to explain the principle on which I have simplified Cæsar's text, the amount of excision, and the degree of change. It would have been a comparatively easy task to simplify the text by the mere process of omission, never deviating from the ipsissima verba of the author by so much as the change of a mode or tense. One could do this and still string together the disjecta membra of the text into something like a connected narrative. But that would be to preserve the integrity of the words at the expense of everything else, — inner relation, structure, style, spirit. Or the simplification might be effected by a virtual rewriting of the text, by amplification rather than suppression, coupled with changes in the collocation of words, where the arrangement seemed to obscure the meaning and perplex the learner.

My purpose and plan differed essentially from both these methods. My aim has been, first, to keep the narrative intact; second, to retain as much of the text as was consistent with the effort to disburden it of its greater difficulties; third, to make the fewest practicable changes in what was retained, these, I believe, being almost entirely limited to modification of verb forms with the necessary concomitant alterations; fourth, very rarely to change the position of a word; finally, never to insert a word, except occasionally to supply a form plainly understood, or to introduce some connective, like et, tum, itaque, autem.

As to the amount of excision, I find that I have omitted almost exactly one-fifth of Cæsar's text.

If the beginner in Cæsar reads the simplified text and concurrently turns the Exercises into Latin, laying firm hold of the grammatical principles selected for illustration, I believe he will find the remaining difficulties of the original text not beyond his scope. I should even hope that he would then read with something of the joy of conscious power. If the reading of the texts and the writing of the Exercises should require more time than is usually spent on the second book of Cæsar, which, however, I doubt, I believe subsequent progress would still be rapid and satisfactory enough to amount to a net gain and saving of time.

It has seemed best to mark long vowels, except the vowels of final syllables and of monosyllables, the rules for which can be readily learned. I have, however, marked a few monosyllables, as a constant reminder to teachers who find their old pronunciation clinging to certain words. We used to say hīs, sic, nōn, quīn, hęc. These words, therefore, I have marked. On the other hand, one is in no danger of saying dē, hī, sī, prō, for old habit would not mislead.

I take pleasure in acknowledging my obligations to Mr. Alfred G. Rolfe for several useful criticisms, and to Miss Caroline Ober Stone for carefully reading the proof-sheets as far as the vocabularies. To Mr. Clarence W. Gleason I am specially indebted. But for his timely and generous aid, both in the correction of the proof and in the preparation of the vocabularies, the publication of this book must have been very considerably delayed.

NOTE ON THE USE OF THE BOOK.

The Simplified Text and the Exercises based upon it are of the first importance. The viva voce translation of the Exercises, followed by the writing of them, will illustrate and help to implant in the memory the most important principles of syntax met with in the text. Let the teacher insist upon thorough work here, and he may safely omit other syntactical instruction.

But little power of reading Latin can be gained without making the acquisition of a working vocabulary a distinct object. The Latin synonyms and the Etymological Vocabulary may be made useful agents to that end. If the words added to each chapter are read aloud, reviewed, and compared where backward references are made, the learner will acquire a useful stock of synonyms easily, naturally, and with small expenditure of time.

It is often easier to retain in mind a number of words, grouped according to some principle of similarity or contrast, than a single word with nothing to hook it to the memory. For this reason it is recommended that the Etymological Vocabulary be often pressed into the service. Suppose, for example, the word conspectus occurs in the lesson. If the teacher will turn to page 138 and have the ten words read out under the root SPEC, he will multiply several times the chances that this particular word will be remembered on its next occurrence. He will have done much more. He will have increased the chances that nine other words will be lodged in the memory; and to each one a fresh interest will be added by its being seen in relation, not as an isolated, and therefore barren, fact.

The first vocabulary may be used for comparing in the text the different meanings and uses of the same word. It is through such comparisons that one gets at the heart and spirit of the language, while cultivating at the same time a mental habit of great value.

Having read the Simplified Text, the learner should be well equipped for wrestling with the difficulties that remain in the unchanged text, for he is already familiar with the thought and the language. Comparison of the two texts by the teacher, so far as time permits, may now be made to illustrate important principles, as of indirect discourse, which are here and there discussed in the notes.

CÆSAR'S GALLIC WAR

BOOK II.

B.C. 57; A.U.C. 697.

THE BELGIAN LEAGUE DEFEATED.

SIMPLIFIED TEXT.

The Belgæ form a league against the Romans.

1. Cum esset Caesar in citeriōre Gallia, crēbri ad eum rŭmōres adferēbantur. Litteris item Labiēni certior fiēbat omnes Belgas contra populum Rōmānum coniūrāre obsidēsque inter se dare. Coniūrāndi hae erant causae: primum verēbantur ne ad se exercitus noster addūcerē- 5 tur; deinde ab nōnnūllis Gallis sollicitābantur. Hi Germānos diūtius in Gallia versāri nōluerant et populi Rōmāni exercitum hiemāre atque inveterāscere in Gallia moleste ferēbant. Nōnnūlli mōbilitāte et levitāte animi novis imperiis studēbant. Ab nōnnūllis etiam sollicitābantur, 10 quod in Gallia a potentiōribus atque iis qui ad condūcendos homines facultātes habēbant, vulgo rēgna occupābantur; qui minus facile eam rem imperio nostro cōnsequi poterant.

2. His nūntiis litterisque commōtus est Cæsar. Duas legiōnes in citeriōre Gallia novas cōscripsit. In interiōrem Galliam qui hās legiōnes dēdūceret Q. Peditum lēgātum mīsit. Ipse, cum primum pābuli cōpia esse
5 inciperet, ad exercitum vēnit. Senones finitimi Belgis erant. Ea quæ apud Belgas geruntur cōgnōscunt Cæsaremque de hīs rēbus certiorē faciunt. Hi cōstanter omnes nūntiāverunt manus cōgi, exercitum in ūnum locum condūci. Tum vēro nōn dubitāvit Cæsar quīn ad eos

3. Eo de imprōviso celeriterque vēnit Cæsar. Rēmi ad eum lēgātos Iccium et Andocumborium mīserunt, qui dīxerunt se omnia in fidem atque in potestātem populi Rōmāni permittere. "Rēmi neque cum Belgis reliquis
5 cōsensērunt neque contra populum Rōmānum coniūrāverunt. Parāti sunt obsides dare et Cæsaris imperāta facere et eum oppidis recipere et frūmento cēterisque rēbus iuvāre. Reliqui omnes Belgæ in armis sunt. Germāni, qui cis Rhēnum incolunt, sēse cum hīs coniūnxerunt.
10 Tantus est eōrum omnium furor ut ne Suessiōnes quidem dēterrere possint Rēmi. Suessiōnes frātres Rēmōrum cōsanguineique sunt eōdemque iūre et isdem lēgibus ūtuntur. Ūnum imperium ūnumque magistrātum cum iis habent."

4. Cum ab hīs quaereret quae cīvitātes quantaeque in armis essent et quid in bello possent, sic reperiēbat: plērīque Belgae sunt orti ab Germānis Rhēnumque antiquitus trādueti ibi cōnsēdērunt, Gallōsque qui ea loca incolēbant expulērunt. Sōli fuērunt qui Teutonōs Cimbrōsque intra fīnes suos ingredi prohibuērunt. Qua ex re fiēbat ut māgnam sibi auctōritātem māgnōsque spīritus in re militāri sūmerent. De numero eōrum omnia se habēre explorāta Rēmi dicēbant. Quantam quisque multitudinē in commūni Belgārum concilio ad id bellum pollicitus esset cōgnōverant. Plūrimū inter eos Bellovacī et virtūte et auctōritāte et hominū numero valēbant. Hi poterant cōnficere armāta mīlia centum; polliciti sunt ex eo numero ēlēcta sexāginta tōtīusque belli imperium sibi postulābant. Suessiōnes Rēmōrum erant fīnitimi; lātissimos ferācissimōsque agros possidēbant. Apud eos fuit rēx nostra etiam memoria Divitiacus, tōtīus Galliae potentissimus, qui cum māgnae partis hārum regiōnum etiam Britanniae imperium obtinuit. Nunc erat rēx Galba; ad hunc propter iūstitiam prūdentiamque suam belli summa dēlāta est.

8. Caesar primo propter multitudinem hostium et propter eximiam opinionem virtutis proelio supersedere statuit; cotidie tamen quid hostis virtute posset et quid nostri auderent periclitabatur. Locus erat pro castris ad aciem instruendam natura opportunus atque idoneus. Is 5 autem collis, ubi castra posita erant, paululum ex planitie

10. Caesar omnem equitatum et levis armaturæ Numidas, funditores sagittariosque pontem traducit atque ad eos contendit. Acriter in eo loco pugnatum est. Hostes impeditos nostri in flumine adgressi magnum eorum numerum occiderunt. Primos qui transierant equitatu 5 circumventos interfecerunt. Hostes, ubi de expugnando oppido spem se fefellisse intellexerunt neque nostros in locum iniquiorem progredi viderunt atque ipsos res frumentaria deficere coepit, concilium convocaverunt. Constituerunt optimum esse domum suam quemque reverti. 10 Constituerunt etiam ut quorum in fines primum Romani exercitum introduxissent ad eos defendendos undique convenirent. Quod eo consilio fecerunt, ut potius in suis quam in alienis finibus decertarent. Ad eam sententiam haec ratio eos deduxit, quod Divitiacum atque Aeduos 15 finibus Bellocorum adpropinquare cognoverant. His persuaderi ut diutius morarentur non poterat.

The temperance, courage, and patriotism of the Nervii.

15. Caesar honōris Divitiaci atque Aeduōrum causa sēse eos in fidem receptūrum et cōservātūrum dixit; quod erat civitas māgna inter Belgas auctōritāte, sexcentos obsides poposcit. Hīs trāditis omnibusque armis

Encamped on the Sabis the Nervii await the coming of Cæsar.

16. Cum per eōrum fīnes trīduum iter fēcisset, inveniēbat ex captivis Sabim flūmen ab castris suis nōn amplius mīlia passuum x abesse. Trāns id flūmen omnes Nervii cōsēderant adventumque ibi Rōmānōrum exspectābant. Exspectābantur etiam ab hīs Aduātucōrum cōpia

Cum ex dēditīciis Belgis reliquīsque Gallis complūres Caesarem secūti ūna iter facerent, quīdam ex his nocte ad Nervios pervēnērunt. His dēmōstrārunt inter singulas legiōnes 5 impedīmentōrum māgnum numerum intercēdere, neque esse quicquam negōti, cum prīma legio in castra vēnisset, hanc sub sarcinis adoriri; qua pulsa futūrum ut reliquae legiōnes contra cōsistere nōn audērent. Nervii autem antiquitus, quo facilius finitimōrum equitātum impedī- 10 rent, teneris arboribus incīsis atque inflexis, crēbrisque in lātitudinem rāmis enātis, et rubis sentibusque interiectis, effēcerant ut instar mūri hae saepes mūnimenta praebērent, quo nōn modo nōn intrāri sed ne perspici quidem posset. Sed quod ad hostes adpropinquābat, cōsuetūdine sua sex legiōnes expeditas dūcēbat; post eas tōtius exercitus impedimenta conlocārat; inde duae legiōnes, quae proxime cōscrip̄tae erant, tōtū agmen claudēbant praesidiōque impedimentis erant. Equites nostri, cum funditōribus sagittāriisque flūmen trānsgressi, cum hostium equitātu proelium commiserunt. Illi se identidem in silvas ad suos recipiēbant ac rūsus ex silva in

C. IULI CAESARIS
DE BELLO GALLICO

LIBER SECUNDUS.

B.C. 57; A.U.C. 697.

THE BELGIAN LEAGUE DEFEATED.

1. Cum esset Cæsar in citeriore Gallia in hibernis, ita uti supra demonstravimus, crebri ad eum rumores adferebantur, litterisque item Labieni certior fiebat omnes Belgas, quam tertiam esse Galliaë partem dixeramus, contra populum Romanum coniurare obsidesque inter se dare. 5
Coniurandi has esse causas: primum quod vererentur ne omni pacata Gallia ad eos exercitus noster adduceretur; deinde quod ab nonnullis Gallis sollicitarentur, — partim qui, ut Germanos diutius in Gallia versari noluerant, ita populi Romani exercitum hiemare atque invetera- 10 scere in Gallia moleste ferebant; partim qui mobilitate et levitate animi novis imperiis studebant; ab nonnullis etiam, quod in Gallia a potentioribus atque iis qui ad conducendos homines facultates habebant, vulgo regna occupabantur, qui minus facile eam rem imperio nostro 15 consequi poterant.

2. His nuntiis litterisque commotus Caesar duas legiones in citeriore Gallia novas conscripsit, et inita aestate in interiorem Galliam qui deduceret Q. Pedium legatum misit. Ipse, cum primum pabuli copia esse inciperet, 20 ad exercitum venit. Dat negotium Senonibus reliquisque Gallis, qui finitimi Belgis erant, uti ea quae apud eos gerantur cognoscant seque de his rebus certiore faciant. Hi constanter omnes nuntiaverunt manus cogi, exercitum in unum locum conduci. Tum vero dubitandum non existimavit quin ad eos proficisceretur. Re frumentaria comparata castra movet diebusque circiter quindecim ad fines Belgarum pervenit.

3. Eo cum de improvise celeriusque omni opinione venisset, Remi, qui proximi Galliae ex Belgis sunt, ad eum legatos Iccium et Andocumborium primos civitatis miserunt qui dicerent: 'Se suaque omnia in fidem atque in potestatem populi Romani permittere, neque se cum Belgis reliquis consensisse neque contra populum Romanum coniurasse, paratosque esse et obsides dare et imperata facere et oppidis recipere et frumento ceterisque rebus iuvare; reliquos omnes Belgas in armis esse, Germanosque qui cis Rhenum incolant sese cum his coniunxisse, tantumque esse eorum omnium furorem ut ne Suessiones quidem, fratres consanguineosque suos, qui eodem iure et isdem legibus utantur, unum imperium unumque magistratum cum ipsis habeant, deterrere poterint quin cum his consentirent.'

4. Cum ab his quaereret quae civitates quantaque in armis essent et quid in bello possent, sic reperiebat: plerosque Belgas esse ortos ab Germanis Rhenumque antiquitus traductos propter loci fertilitatem ibi consedis Gallosque qui ea loca incolerent expulisse, solosque esse qui patrum nostrorum memoria, omni Gallia vexata, Teutonos Cimbrosque intra fines suos ingredi prohibuerint; qua ex re fieri uti earum rerum memoria magnam sibi auctoritatem magnosque spiritus in re militari sumerent. De numero eorum omnia se habere explorata Remi dicebant, propterea quod propinquitatibus adfinitatibusque coniuncti, quantam quisque multitudinem in communi Belgarum concilio ad id bellum pollicitus sit cognoverint. Plurimum inter eos Bellovacos et virtute et auctoritate et hominum numero valere: hos posse conficere armata milia centum, pollicitos ex eo numero electa sexaginta, totiusque belli imperium sibi postulare. Suesiones suos esse finitimos: latissimos feracissimosque agros possidere. Apud eos fuisse regem nostram etiam memoria Divitiacum, totius Galliae potentissimum, qui cum magnae partis harum regionum tum etiam Britanniae imperium obtinuerit: nunc esse regem Galbam; ad hunc propter iustitiam prudentiamque suam totius belli summam omnium voluntate deferri: oppida habere numero XII, polliceri milia armata quinquaginta; totidem Nervios, qui maxime feri inter ipsos habeantur, longissimeque absint; quindecim milia Atrebates, Ambianos decem milia, Morinos xxv milia, Menapios vii milia; Caletos x milia; Velocasses et Veromandos totidem; Aduatucos decem et novem milia; Condrusos, Eburones, Caeroesos, Paemanos, qui uno nomine Germani appellantur, arbitrari ad xl milia.

5. Caesar Remos cohortatus liberaliterque oratione prosecutus omnem senatum ad se convenire principumque liberos obsides ad se adduci iussit. Quae omnia ab his diligenter ad diem facta sunt. Ipse Divitiacum Aeduum magno opere cohortatus docet quanto opere rei publicae communisque salutis intersit manus hostium distineri, ne cum tanta multitudine uno tempore confliendum sit. Id fieri posse, si suas copias Aedui in fines Bellovacorum introduxerint et eorum agros populari coeperint. His mandatis eum ab se dimittit. Postquam omnes Belgarum copias in unum locum coactas ad se venire vidit, neque iam longe abesse ab iis quos miserat exploratoribus et ab Remis cognovit, flumen Axonam, 5 quod est in extremis Remorum finibus, exercitum traducere maturavit atque ibi castra posuit. Quae res et latus unum castrorum ripis fluminis muniebat et post eum quae essent tuta ab hostibus reddebat, et commeatus ab Remis reliquisque civitatibus ut sine periculo ad eum 10 portari posset efficiebat. In eo flumine pons erat. Ibi praesidium ponit et in altera parte fluminis Q. Titurium Sabinum legatum cum sex cohortibus relinquit. Castra in altitudinem pedum XII vallo fossaque duodeviginti pedum munire iubet.

15 6. Ab his castris oppidum Remorum nomine Bibrax aberat milia passuum octo. Id ex itinere magno impetu Belgae oppugnare coeperunt. Aegre eo die sustentatum est. Gallorum eadem atque Belgarum oppugnatio est haec. Ubi circumiecta multitudine hominum totis moe- 20 nibus undique in murum lapides iaci coepti sunt, murusque defensoribus nudatus est, testudine facta portas succedunt murumque subruunt. Quod tum facile fiebat. Nam cum tanta multitudo lapides ac tela conicerent, in muro consistendi potestas erat nulli. Cum finem oppug- 25 nandi nox fecisset, Iccius Remus, summa nobilitate et gratia inter suos, qui tum oppido praefuerat, unus ex iis qui legati de pace ad Caesarem venerant, nuntium ad eum mittit: nisi subsidium sibi submittatur, sese diutius sustinere non posse.

30 7. Eo de media nocte Caesar isdem ducibus usus qui nuntii ab Iccio venerant, Numidas et Cretas sagittarios et funditores Baleares subsidio oppidanis mittit; quorum adventu et Remis cum spe defensionis studium propugnandi accessit, et hostibus eadem de causa spes potiundi oppidi discessit. Itaque paulisper apud oppidum morati agrosque Remorum depopulati, omnibus vicis aedificiisque quos adire potuerant incensis, ad castra Caesaris omnibus copiis contenderunt et ab milibus passuum minus duobus castra posuerunt; quae castra, ut fumo atque ignibus significabatur, amplius milibus passuum octo in latitudinem patebant.

8. Caesar primo et propter multitudinem hostium et propter eximiam opinionem virtutis proelio supersedere statuit; cotidie tamen equestribus proeliis quid hostis virtute posset et quid nostri auderent periclitabatur. Ubi nostros non esse inferiores intellexit, loco pro castris ad aciem instruendam natura opportuno atque idoneo — quod is collis, ubi castra posita erant, paululum ex planitie editus tantum adversus in latitudinem patebat quantum loci acies instructa occupare poterat, atque ex utraque parte lateris deiectus habebat et in frontem leniter fastigatus paulatim ad planitiem redibat — ab utroque latere eius collis transversam fossam obduxit circiter passuum quadringentorum et ad extremas fossas castella constituit ibique tormenta conlocavit, ne, cum aciem instruxisset, hostes, quod tantum multitudine poterant, ab lateribus pugnantes suos circumvenire possent. Hoc facto duabus legionibus quas proxime conscripserat in castris relictis, ut, si quo opus esset, subsidio duci possent, reliquas sex legiones pro castris in acie constituit. Hostes item suas copias ex castris eductas instruxerant.

9. Palus erat non magna inter nostrum atque hostium exercitum. Hanc si nostri transirent hostes expecta-bant; nostri autem, si ab illis initium transeundi fieret, ut impeditos adgrederentur, parati in armis erant. Interim proelio equestri inter duas acies contendebatur. Ubi neutri transeundi initium faciunt, secundiore equitum

5 proelio nostris Caesar suos in castra reduxit. Hostes protinus ex eo loco ad flumen Axonam contenderunt, quod esse post nostra castra demonstratum est. Ibi vadis repertis partem suarum copiarum traducere conati sunt eo consilio, ut, si possent, castellum cui praeerat
10 Q. Titurius legatus expugnarent pontemque interscinderent; si minus potuissent, agros Remorum popularentur, qui magno nobis usui ad bellum gerendum erant, commatuque nostros prohiberent.

10. Caesar certior factus ab Titurio omnem equitatum
15 et levis armaturae Numidas, funditores sagittariosque pontem traducit atque ad eos contendit. Acriter in eo loco pugnatum est. Hostes impeditos nostri in flumine adgressi magnum eorum numerum occiderunt: per eorum corpora reliquos audacissime transire conantes
20 multitudine telorum reppulerunt; primos qui transierant equitatu circumventos interfecerunt. Hostes, ubi et de expugnando oppido et de flumine transeundo spem se fefellisse intellexerunt neque nostros in locum iniquiorem progredi pugnandi causa viderunt, atque ipsos res
25 frumentaria deficere coepit, concilio convocato constituerunt optimum esse domum suam quemque reverti, et, quorum in fines primum Romani exercitum introduxissent, ad eos defendendos undique convenirent, ut potius in suis quam in alienis finibus decertarent et domesticis 30 copiis rei frumentariae uterentur. Ad eam sententiam cum reliquis causis haec quoque ratio eos deduxit, quod Divitiacum atque Aeduos finibus Bellovacorum adpro-pinquare cognoverant. His persuaderi ut diutius morarentur neque suis auxilium ferrent non poterat.

11. Ea re constituta, secunda vigilia magno cum strepitu ac tumultu castris egressi, nullo certo ordine neque imperio, cum sibi quisque primum itineris locum peteret 5 et domum pervenire properaret, fecerunt ut consimilis fugae profectio videretur. Hac re statim Caesar per speculatores cognita insidias veritus, quod qua de causa discederent nondum perspexerat, exercitum equitatumque castris continuit. Prima luce confirmata re ab exploratoribus omnem equitatum qui novissimum agmen 10 moraretur praemisit. His Q. Pedium et L. Aurunculeium Cottam legatos praefecit; T. Labienum legatum cum legionibus tribus subsequi iussit. Hi novissimos adorti et multa milia passuum prosecuti magnam multitudinem 15 eorum fugientium conciderunt, cum ab extremo agmine ad quos ventum erat consisterent fortiterque impetum nostrorum militum sustinerent; priores, quod abesse a periculo viderentur neque ulla necessitate neque imperio continerentur, exaudito clamore perturbatis ordinibus 20 omnes in fuga sibi praesidium ponerent. Ita sine ullo periculo tantam eorum multitudinem nostri interfecerunt quantum fuit diei spatium, sub occasumque solis destiterunt, seque in castra, ut erat imperatum, receperunt. 25

12. Postridie eius diei Caesar, priusquam se hostes ex terrore ac fuga reciperent, in fines Suessionum, qui proximi Remis erant, exercitum duxit et magno itinere confecto ad oppidum Noviodunum contendit. Id ex itinere oppugnare conatus, quod vacuum ab defensoribus 30 esse audiebat, propter latitudinem fossae muri que altitudinem paucis defendentibus expugnare non potuit.

Castris munitis vineas agere quaeque ad oppugnandum usui erant comparare coepit. Interim omnis ex fuga Suessionum multitudo in oppidum proxima nocte convenit. Celeriter vineis ad oppidum actis, aggere iacto
 5 turribusque constitutis, magnitudine operum, quae neque viderant ante Galli neque audierant, et celeritate Romanorum permoti, legatos ad Caesarem de deditioe mittunt et petentibus Remis ut conservarentur impetrant.

13. Caesar obsidibus acceptis primis civitatis atque
 10 ipsius Galbae regis duobus filiis, armisque omnibus ex oppido traditis, in deditioem Suessiones accepit exercitumque in Bellovacos ducit. Qui cum se suaque omnia in oppidum Bratuspantium contulissent, atque ab eo oppido Caesar cum exercitu circiter milia passuum quin-
 15 que abesset, omnes maiores natu ex oppido egressi manus ad Caesarem tendere et voce significare coeperunt sese in eius fidem ac potestatem venire neque contra populum Romanum armis contendere. Item, cum ad oppidum accessisset castraque ibi poneret, pueri mulieresque ex muro
 20 passis manibus suo more pacem ab Romanis petierunt.

14. Pro his Divitiacus — nam post discessum Belgarum dimissis Aeduorum copiis ad eum reverterat — facit verba: Bellovacos omni tempore in fide atque amicitia civitatis Aeduae fuisse: impulsos a suis principibus, qui 25 dicerent Aeduos ab Caesare in servitutem redactos omnes indignitates contumeliasque perferre, et ab Aeduis defecisse et populo Romano bellum intulisse. Qui eius consili principes fuissent, quod intellexerent quantam calamitatem civitati intulissent, in Britanniam profu-
 30 gisse. Petere non solum Bellovacos sed etiam pro his Aeduos ut sua clementia ac mansuetudine in eos utatur. Quod si fecerit, Aeduorum auctoritatem apud omnes

Belgas amplificaturum, quorum auxiliis atque opibus, si qua bella inciderint, sustentare consuerint.

15. Caesar honoris Divitiaci atque Aeduorum causa sese eos in fidem recepturum et conservaturum dixit; quod erat civitas magna inter Belgas auctoritate atque 5 hominum multitudine praestabat, sexcentos obsides proposcit. His traditis omnibusque armis ex oppido conlatis, ab eo loco in fines Ambianorum pervenit, qui se suaque omnia sine mora dederunt. Eorum fines Nervii attingebant; quorum de natura moribusque Caesar 10 cum quaereret, sic reperiebat: Nullum aditum esse ad eos mercatoribus; nihil pati vini reliquarumque rerum inferri, quod iis rebus relanguescere animos eorum et remitti virtutem existimarent: esse homines feroces magnaque virtutis; increpitare atque incusare reliquos 15 Belgas qui se populo Romano dedidissent patriamque virtutem proiecissent; confirmare sese neque legatos missuros neque ullam condicionem pacis accepturos.

16. Cum per eorum fines triduum iter fecisset, inveniebat ex captivis Sabim flumen ab castris suis non 20 amplius milia passuum x abesse: trans id flumen omnes Nervios consedissee adventumque ibi Romanorum expectare una cum Atrebatis et Veromanduis finitimis suis, nam his utrisque persuaserant uti eandem belli fortunam experirentur; expectari etiam ab his Aduatucorum 25 copias atque esse in itinere; mulieres quique per aetatem ad pugnam inutiles viderentur in eum locum coniecisse, quo propter paludes exercitui aditus non esset.

17. His rebus cognitis exploratores centurionesque praemittit qui locum idoneum castris deligant. Cum ex 30 dediticiis Belgis reliquisque Gallis complures Caesarem secuti una iter facerent, quidam ex his, ut postea ex captivis cognitum est, eorum dierum consuetudine itineris nostri exercitus perspecta, nocte ad Nervios pervenerunt atque his demonstrarunt inter singulas legiones impedimentorum magnum numerum intercedere, neque 5 esse quicquam negoti, cum prima legio in castra venisset, reliquaeque legiones magnum spatium abessent, hanc sub sarcinis adoriri; qua pulsa impedimentisque direptis futurum ut reliquae contra consistere non auderent.

 Aduvabat etiam eorum consilium qui rem deferebant,
 10 quod Nervii antiquitus, cum equitatu nihil possent (neque enim ad hoc tempus ei rei student, sed quicquid possunt, pedestribus valent copiis) quo facilius finitimorum equitatum, si praedandi causa ad eos venissent, impedirent, teneris arboribus incisis atque inflexis, cre-15 brisque in latitudinem ramis enatis, et rubis sentibusque interiectis, effecerant ut instar muri hae saepes muni-menta praerberent, quo non modo non intrari sed ne perspicere quidem posset. His rebus cum iter agminis nostri impediretur, non omittendum sibi consilium Nervii 20 existimaverunt.

18. Loci natura erat haec, quem locum nostri castris delegerant. Collis ab summo aequaliter declivis ad flu-men Sabim, quod supra nominavimus, vergebat. Ab eo flumine pari adclivitate collis nascebatur adversus huic 25 et contrarius, passus circiter ducentos infimus apertus, ab superiore parte silvestris ut non facile introrsus per-spicere posset. Intra eas silvas hostes in occulto sese continebant; in aperto loco secundum flumen paucae stationes equitum videbantur. Fluminis erat altitudo 30 pedum circiter trium.

19. Caesar equitatu praemisso subsequebatur omnibus copiis; sed ratio ordoque agminis aliter se habebat ac

Belgae ad Nervios detulerant. Nam quod ad hostes adpropinquabat, consuetudine sua Caesar sex legiones expeditas ducebat; post eas totius exercitus impedimenta conlocarat; inde duae legiones quae proxime conscriptae erant totum agmen claudebant praesidioque impedimentis erant. Equites nostri, cum funditoribus sagittariisque flumen transgressi, cum hostium equitatu proelium commiserunt. Cum se illi identidem in silvas ad suos reciperent ac rursus ex silva in nostros impetum facerent, neque nostri longius quam quem ad finem porrecta loca aperta pertinebant cedentes insequi auderent, interim legiones sex, quae primae venerant, opere dimenso castra munire coeperunt. Ubi prima impedimenta nostri exercitus ab iis qui in silvis abditi latebant visa sunt, quod tempus inter eos committendi proeli convenerat, ut intra silvas aciem ordinesque constituerant atque ipsi sese confirmaverant, subito omnibus copiis provolaverunt impetumque in nostros equites fecerunt. His facile pulsus ac proturbatis, incredibili celeritate ad flumen decucurrerunt, ut paene uno tempore et ad silvas et in flumine et iam in manibus nostris hostes viderentur. Eadem autem celeritate adverso colle ad nostra castra atque eos qui in opere occupati erant contenderunt.

20. Caesari omnia uno tempore erant agenda: vexillum proponendum, quod erat insigne cum ad arma concurri oporteret, signum tuba dandum, ab opere revocandi milites, qui paulo longius aggeris petendi causa processerant arcessendi, acies instruenda, milites cohortandi, signum dandum. Quarum rerum magnam partem temporis brevitatis et successus hostium impediabat. His difficultatibus duae res erant subsidio—scientia atque usus militum, quod superioribus proeliis exercitati, quid fieri oporteret non minus commode ipsi sibi praescribere quam ab aliis doceri poterant; et quod ab opere singulisque legionibus singulos legatos Caesar discedere nisi munitis castris vetuerat. Hi propter propinquitatem et 5 celeritatem hostium nihil iam Caesaris imperium expectabant, sed per se quae videbantur administrabant.

21. Caesar necessariis rebus imperatis ad cohortandos milites quam in partem fors obtulit decucurrit et ad legionem decimam devenit. Milites non longiore oratione cohortatus quam uti suae pristinae virtutis memoriam retinerent neu perturbarentur animo hostiumque impetum fortiter sustinerent, quod non longius hostes aberant quam quo telum adici posset, proeli committendi signum dedit. Atque in alteram partem item cohortandi
10 causa profectus pugnantibus occurrit. Temporis tanta fuit exiguitas hostiumque tam paratus ad dimicandum animus, ut non modo ad insignia adcommodanda, sed etiam ad galeas induendas scutisque tegimenta detruenda tempus defuerit. Quam quisque ab opere in partem
15 casu devenit quaeque prima signa conspexit, ad haec constitit, ne in quaerendis suis pugnandi tempus dimitteret.

22. Instructo exercitu magis ut loci natura deiectusque collis et necessitas temporis quam ut rei militaris ratio atque ordo postulabat, cum diversis legionibus aliae
25 alia in parte hostibus resisterent, saepibusque densissimis, ut ante demonstravimus, interiectis prospectus impediretur, neque certa subsidia conlocari, neque quid in quaque parte opus esset provideri, neque ab uno
30 omnia imperia administrari poterant. Itaque in tanta rerum iniquitate, fortunae quoque eventus varii sequebantur.

23. Legionis nonae et decimae milites, ut in sinistra parte acie constiterant, pilis emissis, cursu ac lassitudine exanimatos vulneribusque confectos Atrebates — nam his ea pars obvenerat — celeriter ex loco superiore in flumen compulerunt et transire conantes insecuti gladiis magnam partem eorum impeditam interfecerunt. Ipsi transire flumen non dubitaverunt, et in locum iniquum progressi, rursus resistentes hostes redintegrato proelio in fugam coniecerunt. Item alia in parte diversae duae legiones, undecima et octava, profligatis Veromanduis, quibuscum erant congressi, ex loco superiore in ipsis fluminis ripis proeliabantur. At totis fere a fronte et ab sinistra parte nudatis castris, cum in dextro cornu legio duodecima et non magno ab ea intervallo septima constitisset, omnes Nervii confertissimo agmine duce Boduognato qui summam imperi tenebat, ad eum locum contenderunt; quorum pars aperto latere legiones circumvenire, pars summum castrorum locum petere coepit.

24. Eodem tempore equites nostri levisque armaturae pedites, qui cum iis una fuerant, quos primo hostium impetu pulsos dixeram, cum se in castra reciperent, adversis hostibus occurrebant ac rursus aliam in partem fugam petebant; et calones, qui ab decumana porta ac summo iugo collis nostros victores flumen transisse conspexerant, praedandi causa egressi, cum respexissent et hostes in nostris castris versari vidissent, praecipites fugae sese mandabant. Simul eorum qui cum impedimentis veniebant clamor fremitusque oriebatur, alique aliam in partem perterriti ferebantur. Quibus omnibus rebus permoti equites Treveri, quorum inter Gallos virtutis opinio est singularis, qui auxilii causa ab civitate ad Caesarem missi venerant, cum multitudine hostium castra compleri, legiones premi et paene circumventas teneri, calones, equites, funditores, Numidas, diversos dissipatosque in omnes partes fugere vidissent, desperatis nostris rebus domum contenderunt; Romanos pulsos 5 superatosque, castris impedimentisque eorum hostes potitos civitati renuntiaverunt.

25. Caesar ab decimae legionis cohortatione ad dextrum cornu profectus, ubi suos urgeri signisque in unum locum conlatis duodecimae legionis confertos milites sibi
10 ipsos ad pugnam esse impedimento vidit — quartae cohortis omnibus centurionibus occisis signiferoque interfecto, signo amisso, reliquarum cohortium omnibus fere centurionibus aut vulneratis aut occisis, in his primipilo P. Sextio Baculo, fortissimo viro, multis gravi-
15 busque vulneribus confecto ut iam se sustinere non posset, reliquos esse tardiores, et nonnullos ab novissimis deserto proelio excedere ac tela vitare, hostes neque a fronte ex inferiore loco subeuntes intermittere et ab utroque latere instare, et rem esse in angusto vidit,
20 neque ullum esse subsidium quod submitti posset — scuto ab novissimis uni militi detracto, quod ipse eo sine scuto venerat, in primam aciem processit centurionibusque nominatim appellatis reliquos cohortatus milites signa inferre et manipulos laxare iussit, quo facilius
25 gladiis uti possent. Cuius adventu spe inlata militibus ac redintegrato animo, cum pro se quisque in conspectu imperatoris etiam in extremis suis rebus operam navare cuperet, paulum hostium impetus tardatus est.

26. Caesar cum septimam legionem, quae iuxta con-
30 stiterat, item urgeri ab hoste vidisset, tribunos militum monuit ut paulatim sese legiones coniungerent et conversa signa in hostes inferrent. Quo facto, cum alius alii subsidium ferret, neque timerent ne aversi ab hoste circumvenirentur, audacius resistere ac fortius pugnare coeperunt. Interim milites legionum duarum, quae in novissimo agmine praesidio impedimentis fuerant, proelio nuntiato cursu incitato in summo colle ab hostibus conspiciebantur; et T. Labienus castris hostium potitus et ex loco superiore quae res in nostris castris gererentur conspicatus decimam legionem subsidio nostris misit. Qui cum ex equitum et calonum fuga, quo in loco res esset, quantoque in periculo et castra et legiones et imperator versaretur, cognovissent, nihil ad celeritatem sibi reliqui fecerunt.

27. Horum adventu tanta rerum commutatio est facta ut nostri, etiam qui vulneribus confecti procubuissent, scutis innixi proelium redintegrarent; tum calones perterritos hostes conspicati etiam inermes armatis occurrerent; equites vero, ut turpitudinem fugae virtute delerent, omnibus in locis pugnae quo se legionariis militibus praeferrent. At hostes etiam in extrema spe salutis tantam virtutem praestiterunt ut, cum primi eorum cecidissent, proximi iacentibus insisterent atque ex eorum corporibus pugnarent; his deiectis et coacervatis cadaveribus, qui superessent ut ex tumulo tela in nostros conicerent et pila intercepta remitterent: ut non nequiquam tantae virtutis homines iudicari deberet ausos esse transire latissimum flumen, ascendere altissimas ripas, subire iniquissimum locum; quae facilia ex difficillimis animi magnitudo redegerat.

28. Hoc proelio facto et prope ad interneccionem gente ac nomine Nerviorum redacto maiores natu, quos una cum pueris mulieribusque in aestuaria ac paludes coniectos dixeramus; hac pugna nuntiata, cum victoribus nihil

- impeditum, victis nihil tutum arbitrarentur, omnium qui supererant consensu legatos ad Caesarem miserunt seque ei dederunt; et in commemoranda civitatis calamitate ex sexcentis ad tres senatores, ex hominum milibus LX
 5 vix ad quingentos qui arma ferre possent sese redactos esse dixerunt. Quos Caesar, ut in miseros ac supplices usus misericordia videretur, diligentissime conservavit suisque finibus atque oppidis uti iussit, et finitimis imperavit ut ab iniuria et maleficio se suosque prohiberent.
- 10 29. Aduatucis de quibus supra scripsimus, cum omnibus copiis auxillo Nervii venirent, hac pugna nuntiata ex itinere domum reverterunt; cunctis oppidis castellisque desertis sua omnia in unum oppidum egregie natura munitum contulerunt. Quod cum ex omnibus in circuitu
 15 partibus altissimas rupes despectusque haberet, una ex parte leniter adclivis aditus, in latitudinem non amplius ducentorum pedum (relinquebatur) quem locum duplici altissimo muro munierant, tum magni ponderis saxa et praeacutas trabes in muro conlocabant. Ipsi erant ex
 20 Cimbris Teutonisque prognati, qui, cum iter in provinciam nostram atque Italiam facerent, iis impedimentis, quae secum agere ac portare non poterant, citra flumen Rhenum depositis custodiam ex suis ac praesidium sex milia hominum una reliquerunt. Hi post eorum obitum 25 multos annos a finitimis exagitati, cum alias bellum inferrent, alias inlatum defenderent, consensu eorum omnium pace facta hunc sibi domicilio locum delegerunt.
- 30 30. Ac primo adventu exercitus nostri crebras ex oppido excursiones faciebant parvulisque proeliis cum nostris contendebant; postea vallo pedum XII in circuitu XV milium crebrisque castellis circummuniti oppido sese continebant. Ubi vineis actis aggere exstructo turrim procul constitui viderunt, primum inridere ex muro atque increpitare vocibus, quod tanta machinatio ab tanto spatio instrueretur: quibusnam manibus aut quibus viribus praesertim homines tantulae staturae — nam plerumque hominibus Gallis prae magnitudine corporum suorum 5 brevitatis nostra contemptui est — tanti oneris turrim in muro sese conlocare confiderent?

31. Ubi vero moveri et adpropinquare moenibus viderunt, nova atque inusitata specie commoti legatos ad Caesarem de pace miserunt, qui ad hunc modum locuti: 10
 ‘Non existimare Romanos sine ope divina bellum gerere, qui tantae altitudinis machinationes tanta celeritate promovere possent; se suaque omnia eorum potestati permittere’ dixerunt. ‘Unum petere ac deprecari: si forte pro sua clementia ac mansuetudine, quam ipsi ab aliis 15 audirent, statuisset Aduatucos esse conservandos, ne se armis despoliaret. Sibi omnes fere finitimos esse inimicos ac suae virtuti invidere; a quibus se defendere traditis armis non possent. Sibi praestare, si in eum casum deducerentur, quamvis fortunam a populo Romano 20 pati, quam ab his per cruciatum interfici, inter quos dominari consuessent.’

32. Ad haec Caesar respondit: ‘Se magis consuetudine sua quam merito eorum civitatem conservaturum, si prius quam murum aries attigisset se dedidissent; sed 25 deditiois nullam esse condicionem nisi armis traditis. Se id quod in Nervii fecisset facturum finitimisque imperaturum, ne quam dediticiis populi Romani iniuriam inferrent.’ Re nuntiata ad suos, quae imperarentur facere dixerunt. Armorum magna multitudine de muro 30 in fossam quae erat ante oppidum iacta sic ut prope summam muri aggerisque altitudinem acervi armorum adaequarent, et tamen circiter parte tertia, ut postea perspectum est, celata atque in oppido retenta, portis patefactis eo die pace sunt usi.

33. Sub vesperum Caesar portas claudi militesque ex
5 oppido exire iussit, ne quam noctu oppidani ab militibus iniuriam acciperent. Illi ante inito, ut intellectum est, consilio, quod deditioe facta nostros praesidia deducturos aut denique indiligentius servaturos crediderant—partim cum iis quae retinuerant et celaverant armis, 10 partim scutis ex cortice factis aut viminibus intextis, quae subito, ut temporis exiguitas postulabat, pellibus induxerant— tertia vigilia, qua minime arduus ad nostras munitiones ascensus videbatur, omnibus copiis repentino ex oppido eruptionem fecerunt. Celeriter, ut ante Cae-15 sar imperarat, ignibus significatione facta ex proximis castellis eo concursum est, pugnatumque ab hostibus ita acriter est ut a viris fortibus in extrema spe salutis iniquo loco contra eos qui ex vallo turribusque tela iace-rent pugnari debuit, cum in una virtute omnis spes 20 salutis consisteret. Occisis ad hominum milibus quat-tuor reliqui in oppidum reiecti sunt. Postridie eius diei refractis portis, cum iam defenderet nemo, atque intromissis militibus nostris sectionem eius oppidi universam
Caesar vendidit. Ab iis qui emerant capitum numerus 25 ad eum relatus est milium quinquaginta trium.

34. Eodem tempore a P. Crasso, quem cum legione una miserat ad Venetos, Unellos, Osismos, Curiosolitas, Esvios, Aulercos, Redones, quae sunt maritimae civi-tates Oceanumque attingunt, certior factus est omnes 30 eas civitates in dicionem potestatemque populi Romani esse redactas.

35. His rebus gestis omni Gallia pacata, tanta huius belli ad barbaros opinio perlata est uti ab iis nationibus, quae trans Rhenum incolerent mitterentur legati ad Caesarem, qui se obsides daturas, imperata facturas pollicerentur. Quas legationes Caesar, quod in Italiam Illyri- 5 cumque properabat, inita proxima aestate ad se reverti iussit. Ipse in Carnutes, Andes Turonesque, quae civitates propinquae his locis erant ubi bellum gesserat, legionibus in hibernacula deductis, in Italiam profectus est. Ob easque res ex litteris Caesaris dies quindecim 10 supplicatio decreta est, quod ante id tempus accidit nulli.

NOTES.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.—To translate Latin into English is to express the meaning of the Latin in English words and in the English idiom. But the meaning must be discovered before it can be expressed. Discovering the sense is, therefore, a process preparatory to translation, but yet measurably distinct from it. For discovering the meaning, the golden rule is, Take words and clauses in the order in which they stand. If the first chapter of this book were rendered into English words exactly in the Latin order, the thought would be readily apprehended by any one quite unacquainted with Latin. Such a word for word rendering, mental or oral, is for the beginner a necessary preliminary to translation, but, I repeat, must not be confounded with translation. For that, the golden rule is, Express the thought in pure English, without admixture of Latin idiom.

Notes under the heading CHAP. refer to the simplified text; those that follow, under the heading PAGE, supplement the former and refer to the unchanged text. The grammatical references are to the Latin Grammars of Allen & Greenough and Harkness.

CHAP. 1.

- line 2. certior fīēbat: he was made more certain = he was informed.
fīēbat: the passive of facio. Review the forms. 142; H. 294.
4. Coniūrāndī: pronounce the i of the second syllable like y.
5. verēbantur: the subject is Belgae, understood; supply the same subject for sollicitābantur.
ad se: refers to the subject of verēbantur.
6. Germānos: subject-accusative of versāri; that the Germans should remain.
8. exercitum: subject-accusative of hiemāre and inveterāscere.
inveterāscere: get a foothold; but what is its primary meaning from its derivation?

line 10. imperitis: 227 e; H. 385.

11. his: supply mentally ab before it.

13. qui: and these, referring to potentiōres, etc.

eam rem: read again the preceding sentence, and you will see to what eam rem refers.

imperio nostro: under our (i.e. Roman) rule. The ablative implies condition, and the meaning is, if we should get the sovereignty. 255, d, 4; H. 431, 2, (3).

1. ita uti: as.

3. Labiēni: Cæsar's lieutenant was now in the country of the Sequani. See a map of Gallia.

4. quam: whose country. We might expect quos referring to Belgas, but the relative is made to agree with the predicate noun partem.

6. has esse causas: depending on rūmōres adferēbantur, like Belgas . . . confirāre and obsides . . . dare. 272; H.

7. omni . . . Gallia: all except their country.

pācāta: the Romans, with cruel humor, called a country "pacified" when they had enslaved it.

8. partim qui: some of whom.

9. ut . . . ita: as . . . so.

11. partim qui: others of whom.

12. ab nōnnullis etiam: these, then, are the third class by whom it is said, Belgae sollicitābantur: first, the conservative and patriotic; second, the restless and dissatisfied; third, the selfish and ambitious.

CHAP. 2,

2. interiōrem Galliam: the interior of Gaul; that is, Gaul beyond the Alps. Refer constantly to a map.

3. qui . . . dēdūceret: qui refers to Q. Peditum, and the clause qui . . . dēdūceret denotes purpose, to lead.

4. Ipse: supply Caesar.

6. Ea = eas res, as shown by rēbus following.

8. manus cōgi: that parties of men were gathering. The construction is the same as Belgas . . . confirāre, in chap. 1.

9. condūci: was mustering; a very different meaning in chap. 1.

quā . . . proficiācerētur: to march. What literally?

- line 18. inita aestate : when summer had begun = at the beginning of summer ; marks the time of dēdūceret, not of misit.

PAGE 24,

1. Dat negōtium : he charges. What literally ?
2. uti (same as ut) . . . cōgnōscant : to find out ; the clause depends on dat negōtium.
3. se : refers to Caesar.
certiōrem faciant : compare the passive form in chap. 1.
5. dubitandum : in full the sentence would be, Caesar dubitandum esse sibi nōn existimāvit ; and the word for word rendering, Caesar did not think an-obligation-of-hesitating to be to himself. Translate, he ought to hesitate.

CHAP. 3,

1. Et : that is, ad fines Belgārum. See the end of chap. 2.
3. se . . . permittere : here se is the subject-accusative of permittere.
in fidem : to the protection.
6. Caesaris imperāta facere : to do what Caesar required.
Literally what ?
7. oppidis recipere : in meaning = in oppida recipere.
cēteris : not other, but all other. Their submission is abject.
9. sēse : not different from se.
10. Suessiōnes : the object of dētērrēre.
12. īfure : constitution.
īsdem : oftener written īsdem, 101, c.

PAGE 24,

9. omni opīniōne : than any one could expect. 247, b ; H. 417.
10. ex Belgis = Belgārum, or inter Belgas.
12. qui dīcerent : compare qui dēdūceret, p. 23, l. 19, and note on simplified text.
se : the object (with sua omnia = their all) of permittere.
Another se must be mentally supplied as the subject of permittere.
18. incolant : why not incolunt, for it must be translated as if it were incolunt ? Because the clause qui . . . incolant depends on the clause Germānos . . . conīūnxisse.

line 24. liberaliterque oratione prosecutus: liberaliter means in a generous or kindly manner; oratione indicates in what sense prosecutus is to be taken, accompanying with words; finally, prosequor has its common meaning of accompany, but with the meaning unusually applied: Cæsar had encouraged the Remi, and he accompanies the encouragement with kind words. Translate, Cæsar encouraging the Remi and adding kind words.

29. communis salutis: by the common interests Cæsar means those of the Ædui and the Romans.
30. conflegendum sit: compare dubitandum (esse) p. 24, l. 5, and read the note. Here, as there, sibi, referring to Cæsar and the Ædui, must be mentally supplied, showing for whom the duty or necessity of action (hesitating, fighting) exists.
31. Id fieri posse: depends upon docet. To what does id refer?
32. introduxerint: the Roman way of speaking is: this can be done, if that shall be done, or shall have been done; hence the future perfect. But mark that such a future or future perfect is often best rendered by a present.

PAGE 26,

1. Postquam . . . vidit . . . cognovit, . . . maturavit: when he saw . . . and found out, (then) . . . he hastened.
3. neque . . . cognovit: and from those scouts, etc., found out that they (the Belgæ) were now not far distant.
8. et connects reddēbat and efficiēbat, which have the same subject, quæ res. The order makes this sentence difficult. Cæsar might have written: et efficiēbat ut commeātus ab Rēmis reliquisque civitatibus sine periculo ad eum portari posset. The order is so perplexed and perplexing because Cæsar wrote in haste, and because he began with the word which was uppermost in his mind, commeātus.

CHAP. 6,

2. ex itinere: immediately after their march.
3. sustentatum est: the Remi held out. What literally?

- line 4. Gallōrum . . . oppugnatio: the mode of attacking towns common to the Gauls and Belgæ.
5. tōtis moenibus: all around the walls. 258, 4, f. and 2; H. 425, II. 2.
7. testūdine facta: forming a testudo. What the soldiers did was to lap their shields over their heads.
8. cum: since. What mode follows cum in this sense?
11. nūntium . . . mittit: one of the expressions that are followed by the accusative and infinitive; here, sēse . . . posse. Compare in chapter 1, certior fiēbat, followed by Belgas . . . confirāre; in chap. 4, reperiēbat, followed by Belgas ortos esse, in complete text.
- Iccius Rēmus: Iccius, a Remian.
13. sēse: subject-accusative of posse.

PAGE 26,

19. moenibus . . . mūrum . . . mūrus . . . mūrum: Cæsar's haste in writing is often manifest.
20. coepti sunt: it may seem strange that the passive should be used instead of the active, coepērunt; but see 143, a; H. 297, 1.
22. Quod: how is a relative after a period often best rendered? For an example, see note on qui, chap. 1, l. 13, simplified text.
24. nūlli: mark the emphasis from the position. Many similar cases occur, notwithstanding A. & G., p. 389, Rem.
oppugnandī = oppugnātiōnis.
25. summa nobilitāte et grātia: a descriptive ablative; a man of the highest rank and popularity.
26. præfuerat: render as if an imperfect. The meaning is, he had been placed in command and was then in command.
ex his: the same as eōrum.
27. lēgāti: as envoys. Compare the use of obsides as an appositive, p. 25, l. 26.
28. submittātur: can you make out the force of the sub?

CHAP. 7,

2. subsidiō oppidānis: to aid the people in the town. But what literally? For the construction, see 233, a; H. 390.

- line 3. quōrum adventu : in consequence of their coming.
 5. contendērunt : the subject is hostes, suggested by hostibus in the preceding sentence.
 6. ab : distant, off, away ; ab is here an adverb.
ab milibus passuum minus duobus : a word for word rendering would be, distant thousands of paces less than two ; that is, less than two miles distant.

PAGE 26,

30. isdem : see p. 24, l. 21, and note on simplified text.
isdem ducibus : the same persons as guides. Compare qui lēgāti, p. 26, l. 27, and note on simplified text.
qui nūntii : see the preceding note.

3. apud oppidum : ad is more usual.
 4. agros . . . dēpopulāti—vicis aedificiisque . . . incēnsis : literally, having laid waste the fields—the villages and buildings having been burned. Mark how the construction changes for want of a deponent verb in place of incendo.
 9. in lātitudinem : compare in altitudinem, p. 26, l. 13.

CHAP. 8,

2. eximiam . . . virtūtis : their eminent reputation for valor.
 3. quid virtūte posset : what their real eminence in valor was.
 Compare quid in bello possent, chap. 4, l. 2.
 7. tantum . . . patēbat quantum loci : render as if loci depended on tantum instead of quantum, extended over as much space as.
adversus : facing the enemy ; adversus an adjective, agreeing with collis.
in lātitudinem : laterally. Compare chap 7, l. 8.
 8. ex utrāque parte lateris = ex utrōque latere : on, not from, both sides ; so ab, below, l. 10.
 10. ad plānitē redibat : gradually resumed (impf.) a level. Cæsar describes a hill over against the enemy, having steep sides, and a front only broad enough for his army when arranged for battle. In front the hill rose with a gentle ascent, and at the top blended with the plain. It is possible that lēniter fastigātus means, as the dictionaries define on this passage and as many editors say, gently sloping down; in which case, ad plāntiē redībat would mean sank down gradually to the level at its base. This attributes an improbable meaning to fastīgātus.

line 12. extrēmas fossas: at the ends of the trenches; compare in chap. 2, l. 2, interiōrem Galliam, the interior of Gaul.

castella: there were, then, four.

17. ēductas instrūxerant: to make good English, render as if ēductas were a verb followed by et; so, very often, when a perfect participle and verb are closely connected.

PAGE 27,

10. et . . . et: we do not say both . . . and so frequently as we find et . . . et in Latin; accordingly it will generally be found better to omit in translation the first et, and render the second and also.

11. proelio . . . proeliis: a decisive battle . . . skirmishes.

14. loco: ablative absolute, as there was a place.

21. obdūxit: Cæsar elsewhere commonly uses perdūco of running a wall or trench. Why obdūco here? Because the fossæ were dug against the enemy, or to cover his position.

24. cum . . . instrūxisset: Cæsar's thought was, according to Latin idiom, when I shall have drawn up, instrūxero; but such a future perfect of direct speech becomes pluperfect subjunctive in narration, after a past tense in the principal clause.

24. quod . . . poterant: because they were so strong in numbers. Find two other similar uses of possum.

27. si quo opus esset: if there should be need of them anywhere; not, if there should be need of any thing.

28. subsīdio: in meaning and construction like subsīdio, p. 26, l. 32.

CHAP. 9,

2. si . . . trānsirent: to see if our men would cross this (hanc).

3. contendēbātur: there was fighting. Compare chap. 6, l. 3, sustentātum est.

4. neutri: neither of the two armies.

5. secundiōre . . . nostris: as the cavalry skirmish proved rather favorable to our men.

line 9. castellum: read over again the last half of chap. 5. Cæsar makes no mention there of a castellum.

10. potuissent: the thought was, according to the Latin idiom, "if we shall not have been able" (potuerimus); but such a future perfect of direct speech becomes a pluperfect subjunctive in narration after a past tense.

PAGE 28,

1. nostrī autem, etc.: a difficult sentence; but treat it as directed in the Introductory Note, p. 48, only observing that si has its usual meaning of if, and impeditos, when they should get stuck fast, agrees with hostes understood.
2. ut . . . adgrederentur: expresses the purpose of parātī in armis erant.
9. eo cōsilio: with this design; explained by ut castellum . . . expugnārent.
possent: they said to themselves, if we shall be able, potuerimus; but if we shall not have succeeded, si minus potuerimus; hence potuissent, when related. See note on Instrūxisset, p. 27, l. 24.
12. nōbis ūsui: compare subsidiō oppidānis, p. 26, l. 32.

CHAP. 10,

3. pugnātum est: contains its own subject, there was fierce fighting. See contendēbātur, chap. 9, l. 3, and note.
4. impeditos: while they were struggling.
6. circumventos interfēcērunt: they surrounded and killed.
Read again the note on ēductas Instrūxerant, chap. 8, l. 17.
7. spem: subject-accusative of fefellisse; but translate, that they were disappointed in the hope.
neque: take the negative part with prōgredi.
8. ipsos: that is, se ipsos, namely, hostes.
10. quemque: subject-accusative of reverti. See also note on chap. 4, l. 9.
11. quōrum . . . ad eos: you will very often find the relative clause preceding the antecedent. In almost all such cases the English way of speaking requires us to render the antecedent clause first.

- line 13. Quod : this, referring to the last two sentences.
eo cōnālīo : with this design, explained by the following clause.
16. Hīs persuādēri : depends on nōn poterat. Why did not Cæsar write, Hi persuādēri . . . nōn poterant, since he means, these could not be persuaded? 230 ; H. 301, 1.

19. reliquos . . . cōnantes : the rest . . . while they were trying.
21. Hostes : subject of cōstituērunt, l. 25, while a pronoun referring to hostes may be mentally supplied as subject of intellēxērunt and vīdērunt. This sentence illustrates an important principle of Latin order, attention to which will be of great aid in translation. When the verb of the principal clause and that of the dependent clause have the same subject, it is commonly expressed in the principal, and left out in the dependent clause. In English we do the opposite. We often begin with the dependent clause ; the Latin frames it into the principal clause.
21. ubi : repeat mentally with vīdērunt and coepit.
28. ad eos dēfendendos : illustrates a very common way of expressing a purpose.

CHAP. 11,

1. ea re : that is, to disperse to their homes ; chap. 10, l. 10.
2. ēgressi : the subject is Belgae, understood.
3. cōnsimilis : altogether like. What is the force of con ?
4. Caesar : as the subject of veritus and continuit, Caesar seems strangely placed in the grip of the ablative absolute ; but the position shows by whom the knowledge was got. Caesar getting wind of this movement immediately through his spies.
5. veritus : try always to render a participle so as to show its logical relation to the main verb, whether of time, cause, contrast, or what not ; here, because he feared.
castris : substantially equivalent to in castris.
6. qui . . . morārētur : compare qui dēdūceret, chap. 2, l. 3, and note.

line 10. ventum erat: they had come. Compare sustentatum est, chap. 6, l. 3; contendebatur, chap. 9, l. 3.

11. priores: those in advance.

15. sub: towards. The idea of place being transferred to that of time.

PAGE 29,

5. quisque: see p. 25, l. 3, and note on simplified text.

primum itineris locum: the first place on the road.

8. qua . . . discederent: following quod . . . perspexerat.

16. cum . . . consistenter: since the enemy, at the very extremity of the rear, kept making a stand.

18. priores: et understood; while those in advance.

quod: carry on also into the next clause; and because they were not held together (continuerentur).

21. sine illo periculo: two ways of expressing "without any" in this chapter; for above we have nullo certo ordine, without any definite order.

23. quantum . . . spatium: how great a space of time (diei) there was; that is (they killed as great a number) as the length of the time allowed.

24. seque in castra . . . recoperunt: and they and their pitiless commander probably slept well that night.

CHAP. 12,

3. ex itinere: see chap. 6, l. 2, and note.

oppugnare: means here carry by assault.

5. omnis . . . multitudo: notice that an adjective and a noun are often separated by words depending on the noun. Here ex fuga from the position is almost equivalent to fugientium.

6. vineis: wooden frames with sloping roof and covered with hides, to protect a number of besiegers.

7. actis: from ago, brought up; the vineae were often moved on wheels.

aggere facto: when earth had been thrown into the trench. This was done so that wooden towers could be brought up near the walls.

10. ut conservarentur: mark how often a dependent clause precedes the one on which it depends. Attention to this will often help in unravelling a long sentence. Now see qui . . . dēdūceret, chap. 2, l. 3; quid . . . posset et . . . audērent, chap. 8, ll. 3, 4; qui . . . morārētur, chap. 11, l. 6.

PAGE 29,

line 32. paucis dēfendentibus: though the defenders were few.

PAGE 30,

1. Castris mūnitis: after making a fortified camp. The first and most important thing, after selecting the site of a camp, was to intrench it. That may be all that is meant in this instance.

vīneas agere: depends on coepit.

quaeque . . . comparāre: and to get ready whatever.

2. fisui: compare subsidiō, p. 26, l. 32.
5. quae: the like of which.

CHAP. 13,

1. obsidibus acceptis: after receiving hostages.
armis . . . trāditis: it was Cæsar's practice to disarm his conquered enemies.
3. Qui cum: the relative is in the right place in Latin, but we cannot translate in this order. The natural place for both words is at the beginning of a clause; but when they come together, the relative takes precedence.
5. circiter . . . quīnque: only about five miles.
6. abesset: governed by cum.
māiores nātu: elders; seniōres would not do.
7. sēse . . . venīre: they surrendered to him unconditionally.
9. pueri: children, as homines often means men and women.

PAGE 30,

9. atque: and besides, or and in particular.
17. neque . . . contendere: and that they were not in arms.
20. passis manibus: pitiful!

CHAP. 14,

1. facit verba: intercedes.
2. in fide . . . fuērunt: have been faithful and friendly.
4. perferre: were enduring. For the tense, see 336, A.

- line 5. ēius cōnalli princīpes : the prime movers in this plan : princīpes = auctōres, authors.
6. in Britanniam profūgērunt : as lately Boulanger and others have done.
8. clēmēntia : said of one who has power to exercise the opposite, sevēritas, crūdēlitas.
mānsuētūdine : said of one who is humane and gentle, opposed to feritas.
9. fēceris . . . amplificābis : we say, 'if you do this, you will add to'; in Latin, 'if you shall have done this, you will add to.'
10. qua : 105, d. ; H. 190, 1.
si qua bella, etc. : by whose aid and resources they (the Ædui) are accustomed to bear the burden of whatever wars befall them.

PAGE 30,

26. perferre . . . dēfēcisse : were enduring . . . had revolted.
28. quod intellegent : seeing.
31. sua : emphatic ; his own, that is, his well-known.
32. quod si fēcerit : if he should do this ; the subjunctive of the future perfect, for which there is no separate form ; hence the form of the perfect subjunctive is borrowed. If the tense is named by its form, it will be called perfect subjunctive ; if by its meaning, future perfect subjunctive.

PAGE 31,

1. amplificātūrum (esse) : the subject must be inferred from the subject of fēcerit.

CHAP. 15,

1. honōris . . . causa : out of regard to Divitiacus.
3. māgna . . . auctōritāte : one of great influence ; a predicate ablative of description ; such an ablative must always have a modifier, as here, māgna. The genitive may be used in the same way, as below, māgnæ virtūtis. On the order, see note, chap. 12, l. 5.
6. quōrum, etc. : translate closely in the order of the Latin ; about their character and customs, Cæsar, on inquiry ; so, generally, do your best to keep close to the Latin order. Read again the Introductory Note, p. 43.

line 12. qui . . . dēdidissent: for having surrendered; what would be the meaning of qui . . . dēdidissent?

6. hominum . . . praestabat: was the most populous; what is it literally?
12. pati: that they permitted. Supply eos, referring to Nervii, as the subject of pati, esse, increpitare, and cōfirmare.
13. quod . . . existimarent: observe in the simplified text quod . . . existimabant; why the difference?
16. qui . . . dēdidissent . . . prōdicissent: for having surrendered and renounced; literally, since they had surrendered.
17. sēse: subject-accusative of missuros.

CHAP. 16,

1. triduum: for three days, accusative of duration.
2. Sabim: now called the Sambre.
6. quique: equivalent to et eos qui, and all such as.
per aetatem: by reason of their age; that is, whether too old or too young.
7. in eum locum . . . quo: into a place to which. The idea of the Latin fully expressed would be, into a place of such a character (eum) that, to it (quo) there would be no access for an army. 319, 2 and note; H. 500, I. Compare qui . . . vidērentur, immediately preceding.
8. exercitui: for an army, not necessarily, for Caesar's army.

19. Cum . . . fēcisset: a temporal cum clause is not always best rendered by when, etc.: after marching for three days.
24. his . . . persuāserant: observe on p. 29, l. 1, an example of the impersonal construction of persuādeo in the passive: his persuādēri . . . nōn poterat, it was not possible for these to be persuaded.
27. cōniscisse: the verb implies hurried action, and so differs from dēpono, which Cæsar uses in Book IV., 19, of putting women and children in a place of safety.

CHAP. 17,

line 2. qui . . . dēligant : compare qui dēdiceret, chap. 2, l. 3, and note; qui . . . morārētur, chap. 11, l. 6.

Cum : since. See note on chap. 6, l. 8.

5. dēmōnstrāvērunt : shortened from dēmōnstrāvērunt, 128, a, 1; H. 235.

inter singulas : between each two; the same mistake, "between each," is common in English.

6. neque . . . negōti : and it was a matter of no difficulty at all.

7. cum . . . vēnisset : when the first legion should reach the camping ground. In the direct form, vēnerit, shall have reached; then regularly such a future perfect is changed to the pluperfect subjunctive in indirect discourse after a past tense. See note on chap 9, l. 10.

8. sarcinis : "Besides his arms, the Roman soldier carried stakes (vālli), used for the palisades of the camp, food and utensils, a saw, a spade, a chain for his prisoners, and other things. He was loaded like a mule." —LONG.

qua pulsa : if this legion were beaten.

futūrum (esse) : depends on dēmōnstrāvērunt; the result would be.

9. Nervii autem : now the Nervii. Nervii is the subject of efficerant. This long sentence is not so difficult as it at first seems. Follow closely the Latin order to discover the sense, render quo in order that, efficerant had caused, and instar like.

11. teneris . . . ēnātis : by lopping the trees when young, and intertwining the branches which grew out thick in a lateral direction; ēnātis from ēnāscor.

12. interiectis : it does not appear possible to take this word in the sense given to it in the dictionaries, thrown or stuffed in. So Moberly translates, "by throwing in brambles and thorns for the present occasion." But is it to be supposed that this was done everywhere? If not, how would the Nervii know where to do it? Moreover, what they had done was done antiquitus, from of old. Translate, therefore, by planting among them.

line 14. quo nōn modo nōn . . . sed ne . . . quidem: this formula, or (without the second nōn) nōn modo . . . sed ne . . . quidem, is usually awkwardly rendered, not only not, but not even. Instead, translate as if the first member were complete in itself (suppressing modo), followed by way, nor even, thus: which it was not possible to pass through, way, nor even see through.

15. Hīs rēbus: by these obstacles.

16. nōn . . . cōnsilium: they ought not to disregard the advice.

PAGE 32,

4. impedimentōrum: here, baggage animals; impedimentis, below, baggage.

9. Adiuvābat: the subject is the long sentence following, Nervii . . . effecerant. Translate, this circumstance favored the advice of those who reported the intelligence, that (quod).

10. nihil . . . possent: compare quid in bello possent, p. 24, l. 25; quid virtūte possent, p. 27, l. 12.

11. neque enim: and in fact . . . not. Observe that enim here does not mean for.

12. pedestribus valent cōpiis: compare virtūte . . . valēre, p. 25, l. 5. The ablative is ablative of means.

13. ad eos: that is, the Nervii.

CHAP. 18,

1. quem locum: I mean the place which.

3. Ab eo flūmine: that is, on the other side.

4. pari adclivitate collis: a hill of similar upward slope; a descriptive ablative.

ab superiore parte: in the upper part. Ab not seldom means on, in, at, by, because the idea of removal (from) implies previous contact or nearness, and the latent idea is sometimes the most important.

5. ut: may be considered as referring to an ita suppressed with silvestris; so thickly wooded that.

nōn . . . posset: one could not easily see within. Impersonal expressions, like perspici potest, are common in Latin. Mark the mode of translation.

7. secundum: along, properly following, from sequor.

line 24. adversus hunc et contrarius: corresponding to this and right opposite.

25. passus . . . apertus: clear of woods for about two hundred paces up from its base.

Infimus: ab inferiorē parte.

CAP. 19,

1. omnibus cōpīs: Cæsar often uses cum omnibus cōpīs.

2. cōsuetūdine: according to custom; just as frequently ex cōsuetūdine.

4. conlocārat: for conlocāverat. See dēmōstrārunt, chap. 17, l. 5, and note.

6. praesidiōque impedimentis: compare subsidio oppidānis, chap. 7, l. 2, and note.

11. opere dimēso: after laying out the work; the expression refers to marking off the ground preparatory to trenching, making a rampart, etc.

castra mūnīre: to make a camp.

17. in manibus nostris: close upon us.

18. ad: towards; repeat it mentally before eos.

adverso colle: straight up the hill; literally, with the hill before them; so perhaps strictly neither an ablative absolute nor an ablative of the "way by which."

PAGE 32,

32. ratio ordōque agminis: the plan and the order of marching.

aliter . . . āc: otherwise than, different from what; this strange idiom looks like an abridged, colloquial expression; probably it was, fully expressed, aliter āc aliter, one way and another way. The order of march was one way and the Belgæ had reported it another way. So I have heard a child say, "This is different and that is different," meaning "this is different from that."

8. cum: while; to be repeated mentally with facerent.

10. neque . . . cōdentes Insequi audērent: and while our men were hesitating to pursue them when they retreated.

quem ad finem: translate as if it were ad finem ad quem, to the line to which the level, clear ground extended.

line 15. ut . . . cōfirmāverant: as they had arranged their order of battle and ranks within the woods, and as they had encouraged each other to do.

CHAP. 20,

2. signum tuba dandum (erat): in order to call the men to take their places in the ranks. Some might not see the flag.
3. signum dandum: this time the signal is for the charge, or perhaps to get ready for a charge.
5. subsīdio: dative of end or service, but render as if a nominative, which might have been used, a help.
7. commode: modifies praescrībere.
ipsi sibi praescrībere . . . poterant: they could direct themselves without any orders (ipsi).
11. nihil: not . . . at all; stronger than nōn.
12. per se: on their own responsibility.
quae vidēbantur: whatever seemed best.

PAGE 33,

27. qui: does not refer to mīlites, but to ii understood.
aggeris petendi causa: for the purpose of seeking materials for a rampart. Mark the position of causa, always following the genitive depending on it.
30. hīs difficultātibus: in this strait; but the words are in the dative with subsīdio. Find two other instances of this construction of two datives.
32. quid fieri oportēret: the object of praescrībere.

CHAP. 21,

1. necessāriis rēbus imperātis: when you meet with res, ask yourself exactly what it means, and then find a proper rendering. Translate, after giving the necessary orders.
4. prīstinae: this word is often used of what was formerly and still continues.
neu . . . animo: and not lose presence of mind.
6. quod . . . aberant: gives the reason of the following, not the preceding, clause.
8. pūgnantibus occurrit: he finds them fighting.

line 8. Temporis: mark how the important word comes first. Take this sentence in thought almost without change in the order of the words, then translate.

tanta . . . exiguitas: so great was the littleness = such was the shortness. Translate, so short was the time.

10. Insignia: "the crests, feathers red and black, and other decorations which the soldiers had. . . . On the march the helmet was not carried on the head. The shields had leather coverings when they were not in use." — LONG.

12. Quam . . . dēvēnīt: to whatever part of the army each one happened to come.

ab opere: that is, making the camp; see chap. 19, l. 11.

13. quaeque . . . cōspēxit: and whatever standards he caught sight of first.

PAGE 34,

13. quo . . . posset: whither a javelin could be hurled = a javelin throw.

19. Quam . . . in partem: compare the second line of the chapter. quisque seems oddly placed, but it is crowded out of the first place, where it would like to stand, by quam.

CHAP. 22,

2. rei militāris . . . ōrdo: military science and arrangement.

3. fiēbat: the result was.

aliae . . . parte: in this idiom the second part only of the thought is expressed. 'Other legions were fighting in another part' implies 'some were fighting in one part of the field.' So claudus altero pede, lame in the other foot, implies one foot sound.

5. interiectis: to be taken with saeptibus.

6. ut: so that. conlocāri: depends on possent.

7. in: of reason, because of or owing to.

8. inīquitāte: usually translated unfavorable condition, or by some similar phrase, and such is the common meaning of inīquitas; but the context shows that the meaning here is closer to the original sense, that of unevenness; hence we may translate, owing to such inequality in the condition of things.

PAGE 34,

- line 25. cum : since, governs impediŕetur as well as resisterent.
diversis legiõibus : diversus means turned different ways, not with united line ; hence here, disjoined. Translate, since, owing to the legions being separated.
28. neque certa subsidia : here begins the statement of the result ; certa subsidia : subject of poterat.
neque quid, etc. : nor was it possible to foresee what was needed everywhere. After prõvidēri supply mentally poterat, of which the whole preceding clause is the grammatical subject.

CHAP. 23,

1. ut : since. Would the mode of cõnstitērant have been the same, if cum had been used in place of ut ?
2. acie : an old form of the genitive for aciēi.
Atrebatēs : object of compulērunt.
6. Ipsī : refers to the subject of interfõcērunt ; that is, legiõnis nõnæ et decimæ mīlites.
8. diversæ = aliæ ; what should it mean from its derivation ?
10. a frõnte : along the front. See chap. 18, l. 4, and note.
11. ab sinistra parte : on the left. Compare a frõnte, preceding line, and ab superiõre parte, chap. 18, l. 4, and note.
nũdātis castris : as the camp was left unguarded.
13. aperto latere : on their (the legions') exposed flank.
14. summum . . . locum : the summit occupied by the camp ; castrõrum is a possessive genitive.

PAGE 35,

3. exanimãtos . . . cõnfectos : breathless and exhausted by wounds.
hīs : the ninth and tenth legions.
4. ea pars : that is, ea pars hostium.
5. cõnantes : accusative, agreeing with Atrebatēs understood, or a pronoun referring to Atrebatēs.
8. resistentes hostēs : object of cõniõcērunt.
16. summam imperi : chief command.

CHAP. 24,

2. cum . . . recipērent : as they were returning.
5. cum respõxissent : on looking back. A cum clause is not always best translated by a full clause.

- line 6. praecipites . . . mandābant: ran away as fast as they could. What literally?
7. eōrum: depends on clāmor fremitusque.
8. ferēbantur: began to rush. Observe the imperfects followed by perfects. The imperfect paints, the perfect describes.
10. auxili causa: for the purpose of rendering aid = as auxiliaries.
11. cum: since. See note, chap. 6, l. 8.
complēri: this and the following infinitives depend on vidissent.
13. vidissent: the subject is equites Trōveri.
14. rēbus: fortunes. How might a clause be substituted here in Latin for the ablative absolute?
15. pulsos superātōsque: supply esse.

PAGE 35,

21. pulsos: supply esse.
22. adversis hostibus occurrēbant: came straight against the enemy. What literally?
23. cālōnes . . . āc summo fugo: the porta decumāna was the rear gate of the camp, opposite the porta praetōria. It appears from this passage that the place for the cālōnes was at the back of the camp, and that in this instance the camp was partly on sloping ground.
30. virtūtis opīnio: reputation for valor.

2. diversos dissipātōsque: running in different directions and scattered.
5. hostes: subject-accusative of potitos (esse).

CHAP. 25,

2. suos urgēri: that his men were hard pressed; the infinitive depends on vidit.
3. cōnfertos mīlites: that the soldiers by being crowded together.
sibi . . . impedimento: hindered one another.
8. ut . . . posset: so that he could no longer stand.
9. Hīs rēbus: for these reasons.
tardiōres: were losing heart.
12. subeuntes intermittere: cease mounting the hill.

- line 12. ab utroque latere: on both flanks. Compare ab superiore parte, chap. 18, l. 4.
13. rem . . . angusto: that the situation was critical. What literally?
14. fini: a peculiar use of finus, quite equivalent to a; not to be imitated in writing Latin.
17. signa . . . iussit: he ordered them to advance and at the same time to open out their ranks.

7. Caesar: subject of processit, fifteen lines below. This first sentence extending through eighteen lines looks very formidable; but if it is taken in accordance with the Introductory Note, p. 43, the meaning will be evident. To translate the sentence is more difficult. In translating repeat "and saw" before the words quartae cohortis, and render the ablative absolutes by clauses, thus: and saw that all the captains of the fourth cohort were killed. Then, reliquos esse tardiōres, that the rest (in consequence) were losing heart.
8. signisque . . . conlātis: and since the standards were brought together. Try constantly to make out the relation in thought expressed by participles; that is, whether the idea is that of time, when, while, etc.; of cause, as, since; of concession, though, notwithstanding; or of condition, accompanying circumstances, etc., to be variously rendered.
16. ab novissimis: in the rear. So below, l. 21. Compare ab sinistra parte, p. 23, l. 13. In both places in this chapter it would be easy to make the mistake of taking ab in the sense of ex, as a substitute for the partitive genitive.
27. operam nāvare cuperet: "wished to do his best." What literally?

CHAP. 26,

3. ut . . . coniungerent: for the legions gradually to draw together.
7. proelio nūntiāto: on the report of the battle.
cursu incitāto: quickenning their speed. The participle following is causal; they began to run because of the report of the battle.

line 10. qui: refers to decimam legiōnem. What is the grammatical irregularity, and how is it to be accounted for?
cum: to be taken with cōgnōvissent.

quo in loco res esset: what the situation was. What literally? Account for the subjunctive.

12. nihil . . . fēcērunt: left nothing undone in the way of speed. What literally?

reliqui: neuter of reliquus. A partitive genitive depending on nihil. Find a similar construction in chap. 15.

PAGE 36,

31. conversa signa: the object of Inferrent, but most conveniently rendered as coördinate with it, to face about and charge. It is thought that by this movement the twelfth and the seventh legions formed a circle or a square.

PAGE 37,

1. neque timērent: repeat cum mentally from the preceding clause; and since they (no longer) feared.

aversi: literally, being turned away; translate, from their rear being unguarded.

CHAP. 27,

2. vulneribus cōfecti: badly wounded. What literally?
prōcubuissent: from prōcumbo.

3. vēro: emphasizes equites, but is better left untranslated; say, while the cavalry.

4. se . . . praeferrent: thrust themselves before; a result clause, dependent on tanta . . . est facta.

5. in extrēma spe salutis: "when all hope of saving themselves was at an end." Here a literal translation would be meaningless or misleading.

7. proximi . . . Insistēbant: those nearest would stand upon their prostrate companions.

8. hīs dēfectis: when these (in turn) were thrown down.

10. intercepta remittēbant: would catch and hurl back. See ēductas Instrūxerant, chap. 8, l. 17, and note.

11. ut, etc.: so that one ought to judge that it was not without cause that men of such valor. On iūdicāre dēbēret, compare perspicī posset, chap. 18, l. 5, and note.

line 13. quae . . . difficillimis : things which, most difficult in themselves.
facilia : a predicate adjective with redēgerat.

PAGE 37,

15. innixi : from innitor, agrees with nostrī.
perterritos : supply esse ; the subject-accusative is hostes.
16. inermes : agrees with cālōnes, even though unarmed.
23. qui superessent : the survivors. Supply si as antecedent of qui.
ut : as. So used p. 34, l. 23.
24. cōnicerent : a result clause, with ut dependent on tantam virtūtem praestiterunt.

CHAP. 28,

1. prope : modifies ad, not redācto.
2. redācto : see the last word of the preceding chapter.
māiōres nātū : see chap. 13, l. 6, and note.
3. pueris : see chap. 13, l. 9, and note.
4. cōnsēnsu . . . supererant : with the consent of all the survivors.
7. vix ad : to barely ; for ad vix, as some say.
8. in : towards ; erga might have been used.
9. vidērētur : not that he might seem, but that he might be seen.
11. se . . . prohibērent : refrain and keep their dependents from ;
prohibēre is appropriate to suos, but hardly to se.

PAGE 37,

31. aestuāria : "the country lying to the north (the modern Zealand) is low and marshy, cut up with tidewater inlets and bays." — ALLEN & GREENOUGH.
32. cum victōribus, etc. : since they thought there was no obstacle for the victors, no safety for the vanquished.

PAGE 38,

4. mīlibus lx. : they had promised fifty thousand ; see chap. 4.
 It was natural that they should exaggerate their losses.

CHAP. 29,

1. auxilio Nervii : compare subsidiō oppidānis, chap. 7, l. 2, and note. Find other examples of this construction.
4. finum oppidū : supposed to be at the junction of the Sambre and Meuse.
5. ex omnibus in circuitu partibus : simply, all round.

line 9. conlocābant: there is a reading, conlocārant. If that is the true reading, tum in the preceding line would mean besides.

PAGE 38,

10. cum: while. Four lines below cum means though.
16. aditus . . . pedum: an approach of two hundred feet in breadth, not more; pedum depends on aditus.
21. his impedimentis: take with dēpositis, two lines below.
22. agere ac portāre: drive or carry.
24. ūna: with it; that is, the plunder.
25. cum alias, etc.: since they carried on now aggressive now defensive war. What literally?

CHAP. 30,

1. primo adventu = cum primum advēnisset, as soon as our army had got there.
3. pedum XII.: that is, in altitudinem, which is expressed, chap. 5, l. 19.
4. oppido: might have been in oppido. Cf. castris, chap. 11, l. 5.
5. vīneis āctis: āctis from ago; see chap. 12, l. 6, and note. aggere exstrūcto: an embankment of timber, stones, and earth was begun at a distance from the walls of a town, wide enough to roll one or more towers upon, and was carried forward by soldiers working under the shelter of the vīneae up to the defensive works.
6. cōstitutū: being raised.
7. ab tanto spatio: so far away. Compare ab milibus, chap. 7, l. 6, and note.
8. quibusnam manibus: with what hands, pray; nam added for emphasis, to point their sarcasm.
10. conlocāre: strangely used for conlocāntes (esse). The Aduatuci may have thought that the Romans intended to hoist the tower upon their wall, or they may have been joking. Which is more likely?

PAGE 39,

5. hominibus . . . contemptū: another pair of datives. Find other examples. The Italians of the present time do not strike one as conspicuously shorter than the Germans.

line 5. magnitūdine: being contrasted with brevitas, is used in the sense of altitūdine.

CHAP. 31,

1. movēri: moving. This word here has suggested a change of conlocāre, in the last line of the preceding chapter, to mōtūros, a very plausible conjecture, but it spoils the joke of the Aduatuci.
5. qui: since they. Compare qui . . . dēdidissent, chap. 15, l. 12, and note.
8. pro sua clēmētia: according to his well-known clemency. See chap. 14, l. 8, and note. What did they think of his clemency when he sold 53,000 of them into slavery?
11. trādītis armis = si arma trādīdissent, if they should surrender their arms.
13. per cruciātum interfici: to be tortured to death. What literally?

PAGE 39,

16. statuisset: not had decided, but should decide. No mistake is oftener made by beginners than in the rendering of a pluperfect subjunctive of indirect discourse representing a future perfect of direct discourse. Such a subjunctive is to be rendered by the auxiliary should, not had. To tell whether a pluperfect subjunctive represents a future perfect, think what form a speaker's words would take, remembering that the Romans commonly used the future or future perfect of things really future, while we very often use the present.

CHAP. 32,

1. cōnsuetūdine: ablative of cause.
3. aries: "a long, strong beam of wood, furnished with an iron head in the form of a ram's head. It was suspended from a framework by a strong chain or ropes, and worked by men, who drove it against the wall." — LONG.
4. in Nervii: in the case of the Nervii; a common meaning of in with names of persons.
5. ne quam . . . inferrent: not to do any harm to those who had surrendered to the Roman people.

line 7 facere: one would expect the future with subject-accusative, se factūros (esse). Compare conlocāre, for conlocātūros esse, chap. 30, l. 10.

9. prope . . . adaequārent: came up almost to the very top; summam with altitudinem. What literally?
 12. pāce sunt fīsi = conquiēvērunt, kept quiet.

CHAP. 33,

3. nostros: our commanders, subject-accusative of dēductūros and servātūros (esse).
praesidia: men stationed in the castella; see below.
 4. dēductūros . . . servātūros: observe how frequently esse is omitted with the future participle.
dēnique: at any rate. What is its usual meaning?
 5. tertia vigilia: the Romans divided the night into four equal divisions, watches, of about three hours each.
 9. eo concursum est: the soldiers hurried thither. What literally? Find similar constructions in chaps. 6, 9, 10, 11.
 10. in extrēma spe salutis: compare chap. 27, l. 5, and note. The context shows, however, that the meaning is not quite the same here. Translate, as their last chance of saving themselves.
 14. nēmo: observe the emphasis from its position. Compare in English, "Silver and gold have I none." nēmo and nūllus are often so placed. Cf. nūlli, chap. 6, l. 10.
 16. ab iis qui ēmerant = ab ēmptōribus: by the purchasers, who were the mercātōres, traders who followed the army as hungry sharks follow a ship.
capitum: we say "souls." It depends on quīnquāginta trium.
 17. quīnquāginta trium: 53,000 captives, probably chained in gangs and sent to be sold in the Province and in Italy; a source of great gain to the general.

PAGE 40,

4. mīlites . . . mīlitibus: another evidence of haste. See p. 26, l. 19, and note.
 5. ne quam . . . infūriam: see p. 39, l. 28, and note.
 9. iis: with armis. Observe the order of the words.

line 10. vīminibus intextis: repeat mentally ex before these words. Some supply factis.

16. pūgnātumque, etc.: translate as if hostibus and viris were subjects.

17. ut . . . dēbuit: as brave men ought to fight. What literally?

18. facerent: the subjunctive shows that the remark is a general one. The indicative would have a limiting force.

The difference can hardly be brought out in translation.

In the former case we may render, against men who could throw; in the latter, against those who were throwing.

20. ad = circiter.

CHAP. 34,

2. miserat: had sent, that is, before the defeat of the Aduatuci.

5. diciōnem: under the sway; in some texts, in dēditōnem. If that reading is correct, the meaning would be, were brought to surrender.

CHAP. 35,

1. pācāta: see p. 23, l. 7, and note.

4. qui . . . pollicērentur: compare p. 23, l. 19, qui . . . dēdūceret; p. 29, l. 12, qui . . . morārētur; p. 31, l. 30, qui . . . dēligant.

6. inīta proxima aestāte: see p. 23, l. 18, and note.

10. ex litteris: in consequence of the letters.

11. supplicātio: a public, religious festival of thanksgiving, decreed by the senate. "The fifteen days' rejoicing marks the constant fear of the Gauls which had haunted the Romans ever since the 'dies Alliensis.' Kraner remarks that the longest 'supplicatio' till this had been one of twelve days, for Pompeius' success against Mithridates." — MOBERLY.

nūlli: see p. 40, l. 22; also p. 26, l. 24, and note.

EXERCISES ON SIMPLIFIED TEXT.

The references are to the Grammars of Allen and Greenough, and Harkness.

The learner is expected, before writing the Exercises, to review the Latin text, and find therein and commit to memory illustrations of the grammatical principles selected.

CHAPTER I.

1. Indirect Discourse: 336, 1 and 2; H. 523 and I.
2. Cum Temporal with Subjunctive: 325; H. 521, II. and 2.
3. Subjunctive after Verbs of Fearing: 331, f.; H. 498, III.

1. Cæsar was in hither Gaul.
2. Reports were brought into hither Gaul.
3. While Labienus was in Gaul, the Belgæ made a league.¹

5. They are afraid that our army is coming³ against them.
6. They are vexed⁴ that our army remains in Gaul.
7. Cæsar feared that the Belgæ were conspiring.
8. Letters kept coming,⁵ while they were conspiring.

NOTES.—¹ made a league: one word in Latin. ² Be careful about the that clause in this and the following sentence. Recall the text to memory and mentally apply the rules. ³ is coming: use venio. ⁴ are vexed: in Latin one of the expressions, like rūmōres adferēbantur, requiring the accusative and infinitive. ⁵ kept coming: one word in Latin.

CHAPTER II.

1. Relative Clauses of Purpose: 317, 2 and N.; H. 497, I.
2. Accus. and Infin. of Indirect Discourse: 336, 1 and 2; H. 523 and 1.
1. In hither Gaul there¹ were two legions.
2. Two new legions Cæsar levies.

3. The two new legions are sent into the interior of Gaul.
4. Cæsar sends his lieutenant to lead² them.³
5. Pedius was sent to lead the new legions.
6. The Senones report that the Belgians are gathering.⁴
7. The Senones informed Cæsar about the Belgians.

NOTES.—¹ there: omit. ² to lead: do not express a purpose in Latin by the infinitive. ³ them: eos. ⁴ are gathering: a passive form in Latin, because the sense is, are being collected together.

CHAPTER III.

1. Ablative of Means: 248, 8, c; H. 420.
2. Ablative with potior, ūtor, etc.: 249; H. 421, I.
3. Accus. and Infin. of Indirect Discourse: 336, 2; H. 523, I.

1. Cæsar came unexpectedly to the borders of the Remi.
2. The Remi said they had not combined¹ against the Roman people.

4. All the rest of the Belgæ² had joined³ with the Germans.
5. They aided Cæsar with corn and other⁴ things.
6. The Remi and their⁵ kinsmen enjoy the same laws.

NOTES.—¹ they had not combined: themselves not to have combined. ² of the Belgæ: not the genitive. ³ had joined: in Latin, had joined themselves, if you use confungo. ⁴ aliis. ⁵ their: omit.

CHAPTER IV.

1. Indirect Questions: 334; H. 529, 1.
2. Substantive Clauses of Result: 332; H. 501.

1. Whence¹ did very many of the Belgæ² spring?
2. Cæsar asked whence very many of the Belgæ sprung.
3. What states are in arms?
4. Cæsar asked what states were in arms.

5. While Divitiacus was king, he was most powerful.

6. From Galba's foresight and justice it results that he is a powerful king.

7. From the valor of the Bellovaci it came about that they demanded the management³ of the war.

NOTES.—¹ Whence: unde. ² of the Belgæ: not the genitive.
³ management: summa.

CHAPTER V.

1. Interest with Gen. of Person: 222; H. 406, III.

2. Infin. with Subject-Accus. as Subject: 270; H. 538.

3. Infin. with Subject-Accus. as Object: 272 and Rem.; H. 534.

1. The children of the leading men are brought to Cæsar as hostages.

2. He orders all the children to be brought to him.¹

3. It concerns Cæsar for² the senate to come to him.

3. Since there were so many,³ they undermined the wall.
4. They easily cleared the walls of soldiers.
5. The Belgæ having cleared the wall made an attack.
6. Having made an attack⁴ they threw missiles against the wall.
7. Since the missiles were many, no one was able to stand on the wall.

NOTES. — ¹ advanced close to: one word in Latin. ² having hurled stones: you must say, stones having been hurled. Why? ³ so many: tot. ⁴ having made an attack: why not impetum facti?

CHAPTER VII.

1. Ablative of Cause: 245; H. 416.
2. Perfect Participles of Deponents: 135, b.; H. 231, 2.

1. At midnight archers and slingers were sent by Cæsar to the town.

ETYMOLOGICAL VOCABULARY.

The relation in meaning of some of the words in certain groups to the root is sometimes obscure or even impossible to be traced with absolute certainty. Sometimes the relation is obscured by the omission in this vocabulary of an interlinking word, because it does not occur in the text. Let us take an example close at hand, the root AID- and the noun aestuārium. The notion "inlet" seems very remote from the notion "burn." But aestuārium is formed from aestus (for aedtus), the first meaning of which is the raging of fire, waves or billows of heat. As we might expect, a secondary meaning is, the raging of water, waves, billows, in the proper sense. From the force of the suffix -ārium, aestuārium should mean a sea-marsh, or a tract overflowed at high tide; and from this the notion "inlet," the place through which the tide rushes, comes naturally enough.

LATIN TEXT-BOOKS.

Allen and Greenough's Latin Grammar.

For Schools and Colleges. Founded on comparative grammar, revised and enlarged by JAMES BRADSTREET GREENOUGH assisted by GEORGE L. KITTRIDGE, Professors in Harvard University. Copyright Edition of 1888. 12mo. Half leather. xiii + 488 pages. Mailing Price, $1.30. For introduction, $1.20. Allowance for an old book in exchange, 40 cents.

TO issue a new edition of such a book as this Latin Grammar was in a sense venturesome, for the book as it stood was giving excellent satisfaction. The hearty welcome accorded the revision has shown, however, that a great advance has been made where improvement was not generally considered possible.

The aim was nothing less than this, — to make the grammar as perfect as such a book possibly can be. The latest conclusions of sound scholarship are presented, and everything is put in the best form for use.

Some of the features of the new edition are its constant regard for the needs of the class-room; its combining scientific accuracy with clearness and simplicity of statement; the intelligibility and quotableness of the rules, secured without concessions to mechanical ways of treating grammar; the addition of much new matter of great value; the marking of all long vowels; the increase of the number of illustrative examples; the numerous cross references; the excellence of the typography; and the indexes, glossary, list of authors, and list of rules.

In short, "the best has been made better."

A FEW REPRESENTATIVE OPINIONS.

Tracy Peck, Prof. of Latin, Yale University: The steady advances in Latin scholarship during the last decade, and the more practical exactions of the class-room, seem to me to be here amply recognized. At several points I notice that the essential facts of the language are stated with greater clearness, and that there is a richer suggestiveness as to the rationale of constructions. The book will thus be of quicker service to younger students, and a better equipment and stimulus to teachers and more advanced scholars.

John K. Lord, Prof. of Latin, Dartmouth College, Hanover, N.H.: It is a great advance upon the former edition. Degrees of excellence are difficult to estimate, but it is safe to say the grammar is doubled in value. It has gained very much that was lacking before by way of illustration, and especially in fulness and clearness of statement. It represents the latest results of classical scholarship in a way that is intelligible to young students.

Harold N. Fowler, Instructor in Latin, Phillips Exeter Academy: Allen & Greenough's Latin Grammar has always been the most scientific Latin grammar published in the United States. The new edition has been revised in such a way as to retain the excellence of its predecessors and embody the results of the latest researches. . . . The new edition is also greatly superior to the earlier ones in clearness of expression and in the arrangement and appearance of the printed page. . . . In short, the book seems to me admirably adapted for use in schools and colleges, containing as it does all that the college youth needs, expressed in language which the school-boy can understand.

John Tetlow, Head Master of Girls' High and Latin Schools, Boston: The changes, whether in the direction of simplification, correction, or addition—and there are numerous instances of each kind of change—seem to me distinctly to have improved a book which was already excellent.

William C. Collar, Head Master of Roxbury Latin School, Boston: Up to the present moment I have been obliged to limit my examination of the revised edition of Allen & Greenough's Latin Grammar mainly to the Syntax, but for that I have only words of the heartiest praise.

So far, its superiority to other Latin grammars for school use seems to me incontestable. I am also struck with the skill with which a multitude of additions and improvements have been wrought into this edition, without materially affecting the unity or symmetry of the original work.

Franklin A. Dakin, Teacher of Latin, St. Johnsbury Academy, Vt.: During seven years' constant use in the class-room, I have always regarded the Allen & Greenough as the best of the school grammars. . . . The improvements make the superiority more marked than ever.

D. W. Abercrombie, Prin. of Worcester (Mass.) Academy: In my opinion, it has no equal among books on the same subject intended for use in secondary schools.

J. W. Scudder, Teacher of Latin, Albany Academy, N. Y.: The changes will commend themselves to all good teachers. The grammar is now scholarly and up to the times. It is by far the best grammar published in America for school work.

W. B. Owen, Prof. of Latin, Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.: I am much pleased with the changes. They are all improvements.

George W. Harper, Prin. of Woodward High School, Cincinnati, O.: I thought Allen & Greenough's Latin Grammar could hardly be surpassed, but the revised edition is a decided improvement.

Lucius Heritage, late Prof. of Latin, Univ. of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.: We have long used the old edition here; the new edition I have examined with some care in the form of the bound volume as well as in the proof-sheets. I think it the best manual grammar for our preparatory schools and colleges.

The Beginner's Latin Book.

Complete with Grammar, Exercises, Selections for Translating, and Vocabulary.

By WILLIAM C. COLLAR, A.M., Head Master Roxbury Latin School, and M. GRANT DANIELL, A.M., Principal Chauncy-Hall School, Boston. 12mo. Cloth. xii + 283 pages. Mailing price, $1.10; for introduction, $1.00; allowance for an old book in exchange, 35 cents.

NOW that the Beginner's Latin Book has been before the public nearly five years, the publishers are able to say without hesitation that it has been far more successful than any other introductory Latin book ever published in this country. This remarkable result is due to a combination of excellences so skilfully blended that effects are more patent than causes. While the book may be used as an introduction to Cæsar, it is more than this,—it is an introduction to Latin as a language. It prepares the student not only to begin the study of Cæsar, but, with proper guidance, to make remarkably rapid and satisfactory progress in reading and understanding Latin. The skill of the authors as teachers has enabled them to secure these larger results without deviation from the main line or increase of difficulties. The fundamental idea was to combine the utmost practice with the minimum of theory, on the principle that a thorough acquisition of the elements of Latin by the young learner must be more a process than a science, more the work of observation, comparison, and imitation than the mechanical following of rules or the exercise of analysis and conscious inductive reasoning. There are therefore abundant and varied exercises on the forms and more important constructions of the language. The skilful choice of words has made it possible to provide exercises that are in themselves interesting. The colloquia (simple Latin dialogues), the extracts for translation, introduced as early as possible, and the mode of treatment throughout are made to impart attractiveness, freshness, and variety, though there is no sacrifice of rigorous scientific method. Even if the time allowed for Latin the first year is quite limited, teachers may still be able to carry classes through the book by omitting certain detachable portions of the course. Provision has been made for the practical use of Latin in oral teaching.

Note the testimony of those who have used it.

Allen & Greenough's New Cæsar.

Seven Books. Illustrated. With six double-page colored maps.

Edited by Prof. W. F. ALLEN, of the University of Wisconsin, J. H. ALLEN, of Cambridge, and H. P. JUDSON, Professor of History, University of Minnesota, with a special Vocabulary by Prof. J. B. GREENOUGH, of Harvard College. 12mo. xxvi + 543 pages, red edges, bound in half-morocco. Mailing Price, $1.35; for introduction, $1.25; Allowance for an old book in exchange, 40 cents.

ATTENTION is invited to these features, which, with other merits, have gained this edition an extraordinary success:—

1. The judicious notes,—their full grammatical references, crisp, idiomatic renderings, scholarly interpretations of difficult passages, clear treatment of indirect discourse, the helpful maps, diagrams, and pictures; in particular, the military notes, throwing light on the text, and giving life and reality to the narrative.

2. The vocabulary,—convenient, comprehensive, and scholarly, combining the benefits of the full lexicon with the advantages of the special vocabulary, and every way superior to the ordinary vocabulary.

3. The mechanical features of the volume, its clear type, convenient size and shape, superior paper, and attractive binding.

4. In general, this edition represents the combined work of several specialists in different departments, and so ought to excel an edition edited by any single scholar.

The Notes on the second book have just been rewritten to adapt them for those who begin Cæsar with this book. Full grammatical references have been given.

Tracy Peck, Prof. of Latin, Yale College: With quite unusual satisfaction I have noticed the beautiful paper and type; the carefully edited text; the truly helpful notes, which neither tend to deaden enthusiasm with superfluous grammar, nor blink real difficulties; the very valuable illustrations and remarks on the Roman military art; and the scholarly and stimulating vocabulary.

John Tetlow, Prin. of Girls' High and Latin Schools, Boston: The clear type, judicious annotation, copious pictorial illustration, full explanation of terms and usages belonging to the military art, and excellent vocabulary, combine to make this edition easily first among the school editions of Cæsar.

G. W. Shurtleff, Prof. of Latin, Oberlin (Ohio) College: I do not hesitate to pronounce it the best edition I have ever seen.

J. L. Lampson, Teacher of Latin, State Normal College, Nashville, Tenn.: It is the best Cæsar published.

Allen & Greenough's New Cicero.

Thirteen Orations. Illustrated.

Edited by Prof. W. F. ALLEN, of the University of Wisconsin, J. H. ALLEN, of Cambridge, and Prof. J. B. GREENOUGH, of Harvard University. With a special Vocabulary by Professor Greenough. 12mo. Half-morocco. xix + 670 pages. Mailing Price, $1.40; for introduction, $1.25; Allowance for an old book in exchange, 40 cents.

THIS edition includes thirteen orations arranged chronologically, and covering the entire public life of Cicero. The introductions connect the orations, and, with them, supply a complete historical study of this most interesting and eventful period. The Life of Cicero, List of his Writings, and Chronological Table will be found of great value. The orations are: Defence of Roscius, Impeachment of Verres (The Plunder of Syracuse and Crucifixion of a Roman Citizen), The Manilian Law, the four orations against Catiline, For Archias, For Sestius, For Milo, The Pardon of Marcellus, For Ligarius, and the Fourteenth Philippic.

The notes have been thoroughly rewritten in the light of the most recent investigations and the best experience of the classroom. Topics of special importance, as, for instance, the Antiquities, are given full treatment in brief essays or excursuses, printed in small type. References are given to the grammars of Allen & Greenough, Gildersleeve, and Harkness.

A. E. Chase, Prin. of High School, Portland, Me.: I am full better pleased with it than with the others of the series, although I thought those the best of the kind.

F. E. Rockwood, Prof. Latin, Bucknell University, Pa.: The work of editing seems to have been done with the utmost care. The result is a model text-book.

O. D. Robinson, Prin. of High School, Albany, N. Y.: I find it a worthy companion, in every way, of its two predecessors, the Virgil and the Cæsar. I can say no more than this in its praise, for I have already spoken sincerely, in almost unqualified terms, of these two books.

John L. Lampson, Prof. of Latin, State Normal College, Nashville, Tenn.: The text, in appearance and authority, is the best; the notes, ample, judicious, modern; the vocabulary is the best school-book vocabulary published.

L. B. Wharton, Prof. Latin, College of William and Mary: It is the best school edition of Cicero's Orations that I have ever seen. The vocabulary is admirable.

Allen & Greenough's Cicero. The Old Edition.

Eight Orations and Notes, with Vocabulary. Mailing price, $1.25; for introduction, $1.12.

Allen and Greenough's New Ovid.

Revised edition. Edited by HAROLD N. FOWLER, Instructor in Latin in Phillips Exeter Academy; with a special vocabulary by JAMES B. GREENOUGH, of Harvard University. 12mo. Half leather. Illustrated.

- I. With vocabulary, by mail, $1.65; for introduction, $1.50.
 II. Without vocabulary, by mail, $1.25; for introduction, $1.12.
 Allowances respectively 40 and 30 cents.

THE editor believes that the poems of Ovid are, as regards both style and subject-matter, admirably adapted to serve as an introduction to the study of Latin Poetry. He has therefore furnished the book with copious notes suited to the needs of young students, supplemented with grammatical references and an introduction on the life and works of Ovid, and on mythology.

The selections were chosen with a view to making the study of Latin interesting. Most of them are from the Metamorphoses, of which about one-third has been taken. By help of the argument, which is given in full, the editor has endeavored not merely to show the connection of the tales and the ingenuity of the transitions, — necessary to comprehend the poem as a whole, — but to put before the reader something like a complete picture of the Greek mythology, at least of those narratives which have held their permanent place in the modern mind and have entered more or less into every modern literature.

The first eighty-eight lines of Book I. have been omitted because of their difficulty and lack of interest. From the Fasti three selections are given; from the Heroides, one; from the Amores, three; from the Troica, five; and of the letters from Pontus, one. Special care has been taken to preserve the more interesting biographical hints of the lesser poems.

Professor Greenough's vocabulary, similar in style and character to his Cæsar, Cicero, and Virgil vocabularies, will doubtless be ready before the autumn of 1891. In the meantime Allen's Lexicon will fill its place.

William A. Packard, Prof. of Latin, Princeton College: The abundant illustrations of mythology, now introduced, so specially appropriate and indeed necessary to the student's best appreciation of these poems, make this book peculiarly attractive and useful.

Mary S. Anthony, Teacher of Latin and Greek, Bradford Academy, Mass.: I find that it is admirably arranged for a comprehensive study of the metamorphoses. I like, in fact, the entire Allen & Greenough series, and have introduced them into my work here in the Academy.

Greenough's Virgil.

Fully annotated, for School and College Use, by J. B. GREENOUGH, of Harvard University. Supplied in the following editions: —

Complete Text of Virgil85	.75

CONTAINING Life of the Poet, Introductions, a Synopsis preceding each Book, and an Index of Plants. Also full illustrations from ancient objects of art.

The text follows Ribbeck in the main, variations being noted in the margin; and the references are to Allen & Greenough's, Gildersleeve's, and Harkness's Latin Grammars.

Tracy Peck, Prof. of Latin, Yale College: The Vocabulary, both in plan and execution, is superior to any schoolbook vocabulary known to me.

E. P. Crowell, Prof. of Latin, Amherst College: In all respects a very scholarly and excellent edition.

Jno. K. Lord, Prof. of Latin, Dartmouth College: The best school edition of the works of Virgil with which I am acquainted.

F. E. Lord, Prof. of Latin, Wellesley College: There is an admirable richness and appropriateness to the notes.
